Council wants better relationship with MLA

Determined to get better relations established between St. Albert city council and the St. Albert MLA Ernie Jamison, St. Albert council finally hammered out terms on which the improvement might be based at its regular meeting last week.

But it was a tantalizing business, for council, sitting till well after 11 p.m. May 24, seemed too listless to formulate the right motion.

Alderman Rod Thronson suggested that the motion on the MLA should be tabled, and council should have a crack at it another time.

After much beating around the bush on an original motive of motion from Alderwoman Myrna Fyfe, the final motion was eventually spawned.

It ran: that council seek the assistance of the Minister of Municipal Affairs in dealing with the MLA as he relates to this municipality.

The motion was carried 6-1 with Ald. Thronson opposed.

The motion carried was very like the original presented by Ald. Fyfe, who told council it was not being presented "looking for revenge, but only to satisfy or overcome the problem that Please Turn to Page 2

Tuesday afternoon, Larry Mitchell of the St. Albert Sportshop phoned the Gazette to report an amusing activity going on in a mud hole behind the Sportshop. When the photographer arrived he found three very muddy little boys and three even muddier little dogs having a whale of a good time splashing and laughing. Will mothers ever understand why it is that little boys seem to enjoy this type of activity so much more than good 'clean' fun?

two public meetings on the St. Albert General Plan May 25.

Another point of criticism at the meeting in the Vincent J. Maloney school was that St. Albert city staff would have to be superhuman to evaluate all the input between now and June 22.

That is when council will hold a special meeting for the final draft of the General Plan. Public input can still be made at that meeting, but by the end of the summer the General Plan will be on the books as a bylaw.

About 40 residents attended the last general plan public meeting.

At the workshop session on Community Services and Recreation, St. Albert resident Robert Heit, 11 Scarborough Place accused St. Albert planners of reducing the quality of his life.

He was talking in reference to the arrival of "milk-shake" and "hamburger stand areas" popping up west of the St. Albert Trail, areas which right now are "nice and quaint."

When Mr. Heit was told by Alderman Barry Breadner that a development agreement had been signed to bring a hamburger facility into St. Albert and there was no way it could be legally stopped, Mr. Heit was stung to reply: "You've just destroyed the quality of my life."

Road contracts advertised - tenders opened June 15

MLA Ernie Jamison announced last week that a contract for St. Albert-Edmonton connecting roads will be advertised May 30 and tenders will be open June 15 for the following work.

1. St. Albert Trail (Highway 2) at the 137 Avenue junction. North and south of the junction (0.39 miles).

2. 156 Street from Edmonton city limits to 137 Ave. (1.60 miles).

3. 137 Avenue from St. Albert Trail to corner of 170 Street (2.05 miles).

4. 170 Street from 137 Avenue to L'Assommoir Road in St. Albert (1.17 miles).

The contract covers grading, stabilized gravel base, asphaltic concrete base, pavement, asphaltic concrete pavement and other work, and is to be completed in the 1977-78 fiscal year.

There is going to be some dislocation while work on these projects goes forward, Mr. Jamison said, and he hopes the people of St. Albert co-operate with courteous and careful driving as the Trail is forced to take extra traffic while the improvements to the arteries are made. Completion of the work will help divert traffic between St. Albert and Edmonton through greater use of the improved arteries.

Mayor Dick Plain and Recreation Director Bernie March were on hand to welcome the 1,000 new residents of the Lacombe Park Lake. The mayor handled this squirming netfull of Rainbow Trout with surprising skill; depositing all safely into the lake. The fish, eager to escape their crowded quarters, began leaping from the net the instant Dick placed it near the water.

No fishing - yet

On Friday, May 27, the Lacombe Park Lake became the home of 1,000 pan-size Rainbow Trout courtesy of the Provincial Department of Parks, Recreation and Wildlife.

The fish were delivered on condition the city ensure that childrens' recreation would be the primary focus of fishing activity. Bernie March, city recreation director, regrettably reports that no fishing can be allowed until the parks official opening sometime in the near future. Rules and regulations regarding fishing will be forthcoming at that time in the form of a brochure available at the opening or from city hall.

Bernie informed the Gazette that the city's approach would be to provide fishing clinics and fly fishing workshops but that nothing had been settled to this point.

The city is also preparing a recreation plan for the park which will likely include picnicking facilities and a change room for winter skating. Details of the plan will be available at the grand opening.

Because the lake has not had time to produce enough food for a fish population of this size, fishing should be Please Turn to Page 6

Future use of Big Lake discussed

St. Albert Mayor Dick Plain still seems to be hanging on to Big Lake as a large metropolitan recreation facility.

At the regular meeting of council May 24, council received rather a mixed bag of tricks from an Alberta Environment delegation who have been carrying out a Sturgeon River basic study recently.

David Barton, Alberta Environment, told council Big Lake had poor water and poor access; it was "not one of the better lakes."

"It's the only one we've got," prompted Mayor Dick Plain.

Whatever the feelings about Big Lake's future, Alderman Barry Breadner had a point when he suggested that the council must look Please Turn to Page 6

Villeneuve sewer system approved

The MD of Sturgeon has given its approval for a $199,280 sewer system in Villeneuve.

The approval came at a regular development meeting of the MD last week.

Two-thirds of the sewer system's cost will be funded by the provincial government.

The sewer system will be large enough to handle the needs of 250 people; this is Please Turn to Page 2 has existed to date."

Ald. Fyfe pointed out it was necessary for the local government to have the support of the MLA for "democratic representation." She complained that the council was "having no effect in dealing with the MLA."

She added that the council did deal effectively at the ministerial level of government.

In making the motion Ald.

Fyfe pointed out that St. Albert was incorporated subject to provincial statutes.

"We must have a working relationship with the MLA," she said. "If there is not the support for local government, the people will be the losers, not us."

Ald. Thronson did not see why the Minister of Municipal Affairs should be involved with the MLA and the council. "I do not think it is his job," he said.

He added that "it always takes two to tangle" and suggested maybe a meeting with the council, Premier Peter Lougheed and the MLA might solve the problem.

However, Ald. Fyfe pointed out later, "I do not think we have a ghost of a chance of meeting with the Premier ... do we sit here without representation?"

Mayor Dick Plain quoted a case, without naming the city, where the MLA had been against that city for 10 years; but war was not declared, "and the results are just the same."

monstrated that the hamburger facility had been advertised and that the development of the Ball Estate was a matter of public knowledge.

Earlier Mr. Heit told the workshop he didn't want horns beeping at two in the morning and questioned whether council had considered the interests of the people in his neighbourhood.

What irked more was the talk of widening the Trail to six lanes and "making life more miserable."

Mr. Heit was told that he could represent his view at council and Ald. Thronson promised that his request for a green buffer at the hamburger facility would be taken care of.

Mr. Heit's complaints highlighted the session on recreation and community facilities.

There were some complaints for the St. Albert Fire Department from one resident, even though there could be a change at the department if the MD of Sturgeon pulls out of its fire agreement with St. Albert in the near future.

Planner Eric Conley told how St. Albert wants to maintain control of the Green Belt as a means of keeping a separate identity from Edmonton.

He mentioned plans for the development of the Sturgeon River Valley corridor, fronting on downtown development in St. Albert.

Two plusses as far as St. Albert is concerned now, are the new arena due for completion November 15 this year, and the swimming pool, which could be ready by January 30, 1978.

Ald. Thronson was at pains to say that the old arena on Perron Street has a sure future. "We need it badly," he said.

HOW HOUSING SHOULD DEVELOP

In the context of the dialogue on 80/20 single family-multiple family residential splits in St. Albert, a local resident zeroed in on the whole problem of housing in this city. This was of the workshop on population and housing.

Wendy Strong, RR1 St. Albert said you could have zero lot lines, but she was opposed to them as they were not as attractive as condominiums "which are neat and right there."

St. Albert resident Bernard Bowers said that St. Albert would have to have terraced types of housing "to meet future needs because of the cost of homes."

The desirability of these homes would put prices through the roof, he added.

He also said that if you put artificial limits on desirability a situation is created where you have a highly priced exclusive area.

But Ms. Strong pointed out that if she were a developer she would push for 900 homes (in a given area) rather than 300 "If I desired more money."

Higher density would deteriorate the quality of life-style, she added.

Mr. Bower said he did not see how you could isolate yourself as a middle class community, but conceded that zero lot line developments should be in clusters (rather than en bloc).

On the St. Albert downtown area he said if "we were 150 miles from Edmonton we'd really want a downtown of which we could be really proud."

STUDY SESSION in progress at one of the recent General Plan public meetings in St. Albert.

Director of Planning Wayne Gordon pointed out that when St. Albert's population hits the 50,000-60,000 mark, "the city will be in a pressure point," then there would have to be increased transit facilities, and the city would have to make use of technological changes.

On a final point about housing Ms. Strong asked why did people want to pay mortgages on dishwashers over 25 years.

She felt that "ordinary" homes could be built which could be sold at a more reasonable price.

OVERVIEW ON GROWTH

Mr. Gordon put the General Plan in the context of possible expansion of the Edmonton Metro area by another half million at the turn of the century.

The General Plan saw a reduction in St. Albert's growth rate to seven percent per year, or 2200 people, in actual terms.

This would mean that St. Albert would have 50,000 by 1988.

By development of several neighbourhoods like Akinsdale, Braeside and Lacombe Park, St. Albert could reach the 35,000 mark in the nearer future, Mr. Gordon suggested. Between 1971-75, city growth had been at 20 percent Mr. Gordon said.

In 1971 St. Albert was a mere 11,200; by 1976, it had swelled to 23,900 according to the last census; and current figures show that St. Albert had reached 25,000, Mr. Gordon told the workshop.

Before the workshop sessions began, St. Albert resident Bob Thompson told the meeting that St. Albert city staff would have to be superhuman to sift through public input material thoroughly before June 22.

"I find it rather difficult that you will accomplish this in one month," he said.

Bill Zielinski, of School District #3, seeming to complain at the low turn-out at the meeting, objected about "50-60 determining education facilities for this community."

He complained of erroneous statements about St. Albert's separate identity and that minorities would be fragmented into minorities when the workshop sessions were in progress.

An average of about 10 persons a time were able to take in each workshop session.

more than adequate for Villeneuve with its present population of about 200.

The system will add about $130.33 to the individual tax bill and the monthly outlay for each taxpayer may be less than the $11 originally anticipated.

Referring to the established cost of $11 a month, Reeve of the MD Bill Flynn told the Gazette last Friday, "it may be even better than that."

Cost of the sewer system will be amortized over 20 years.

The system is of the "Vimy" type. A plastic pipe runs from an individual's property to a septic tank and after the second stage, effluent is pumped out into clear water to the lagoon.

Concern mounts over growing bike thefts

St. Albert RCMP, like the St. Albert public are concerned about the growing number of bicycle thefts in the city and wondering about ways to combat the problem.

Dave Kenney, 145 Ridgewood Terrace, is one St. Albert resident who thinks the problem is the worst it's ever been.

"I've never known it so bad," he told the Gazette last week.

Superintendent of the St. Albert RCMP Detachment Staff Sergeant Lyle Lambert says part of the problem with bike security is that bikes are not registered and there is no central registry from which to check the (stolen) bikes.

Another problem the superintendent says is that people phone up and tell the RCMP a bike is stolen, then only leave a vague description of it at the detachment.

The RCMP do try and keep a hawk eye on thefts before they occur on the street.

Staff Sgt. Lambert feels it is a case of damned if you do and damned if you don't.

He says that one day he saw some kids and thought they should be at school; with them they had a bike. He asked the kids if it was their bike and of course they were offended that he had asked.

The main beef of Mr. Kenney is that the bikes being stolen in the main cost about $150 each and the recorded thefts may just be the tip of the ice-berg.

He claimed that RCMP were not taking the complaints of the thefts seriously.

"It's not fun if you have kids and the bikes cost $150 a-piece," he says.

Whatever the feeling of the public to the RCMP trying to keep down bicycle thefts, the police themselves welcome suggestions on how to combat the problem. Staff Sgt. Lambert himself confirms this fact saying that they welcome the input of the public.

He says the RCMP in St. Albert are working on a new system of large identification stickers to make stolen bikes more easily identifiable.

All of the stickers would be recorded so that a stolen bike could be cross-checked in a central registry.

Talking about direct involvement of the public, Staff Sergeant Lambert says that the detachment hopes to take on five high school students this summer. They will assist in general surveillance of public parks and swimming pools. But more particularly they will keep an eye out for that number one bugbear of the summer months: bike thefts.

Apart from people keeping a hawk eye on bike thefts, the police are asking the public to lock up their bikes and put them away (when they are not in use).

Mr. Kenney thinks one way the RCMP could handle the problem more effectively is to go out on the beat on foot.

Last week RCMP reported a total of 73 bikes stolen from April 1 to May 24 and 22 bikes were reported found and turned in to the RCMP.

Many of the bikes are being stolen from residents' yards, school grounds and recreation areas.

RCMP ask residents of St. Albert to properly identify their bikes, record serial numbers and identifying marks to assist the police in locating their bikes should they be stolen.

Fifteen year old Rick Webber was the boy's high jump winner at the Sir George Simpson track meet held Tuesday. Rick won the event with a leap of 5' 3" and by the angle of this photo it is apparent he could have cleared another half foot.

Children started fires

In the two weeks from May 9 to May 23 the St. Albert Fire Department answered nine calls, consisting of two grass, one garage, one t.v. and one garbage fire, one emergency and three false alarms, as reported by the City information officer in a May 30th release.

Three of the fires were caused by children playing with matches -- fires that could be avoided if parents would co-operate in teaching their children about the dangers involved.

The popular fluff that comes off the trees at this time of year is a real fire hazard. It burns like a flammable liquid and, once started, the spread is quite rapid. Only with the co-operation of all concerned can we stop these unwarranted fire starts. You can help by practicing fire prevention and encouraging your children to do the same.

RCMP to lead rodeo parade

Parade Marshall Ben Lemieux reports about 60 entries confirmed to date for the Kinsmen rodeo parade, with eight bands, including the Edmonton All Girls, some 50 floats and a variety of mounted entries. The Cold Lake Pipe Band are also expected this year, and the RCMP will lead off the parade.

Entries are still being accepted and Ben is encouraging local business people to come in with floats.

The parade route is being extended this year and it is expected to encompass one and a half to two hours. Form up will be as usual in the Gate Avenue area then down Granite to Grosvenor. This year it will turn off Grosvenor to go past the swimming pool, the right over to Churchill Avenue and past Lions Park, the Mall and City Hall, turning onto Perron street with dispersal at Father Jan School.

PADDY WAGON READY

The paddy wagon will be on St. Albert streets at 6 a.m. on parade morning, June 18 with lots of clowns and excitement. The wagon carries a jail and people will be picked up, fined or thrown in jail for such misdemeanors as the Kinsmen decide who deserves the "treatment." If some of the dignitaries arrive early, such as Marcel Lambert, Ernie Jamison, Peter Elzinga or mayors from around the area, including Dick Plain and Terry Cavanaugh, they will undoubtedly be fair game for the paddy wagon cowboys!

Local business people and others planning to enter the parade should get in motion soon and give Ben Lemieux a call at 458-3908.

ERNIE JAMISON brushed off the rain last Saturday morning and gave the St. Albert Breakfast Lions a helping hand as their bike-a-thon got underway from Lions Park.

Half-ton stolen from residence

At 9 a.m., May 28, 1977, David Zellweger of St. Paul reported his 1971 maroon Ford 1/2 ton stolen from the street at 8 Lafonde Crescent. The keys had been left in the ignition and the vehicle was subsequently located at 4:45 a.m., 1/4 mile north of the Glendale Golf Course. The truck had been overturned in the ditch at that location. The vehicle sustained $1,500 damage and there was $200 damage done to a fence and trees at that location. Investigation by the RCMP Police, St. Albert is still continuing.

During the past couple of weeks a number of break ins and thefts have been reported of residences in Lacombe

Park during daylight hours. Entry, in some cases, has been through a basement window or an unlocked door while the residents were away from their homes. In the majority of the cases, only money has been stolen from these residences. Residents of St. Albert are cautioned to properly secure their homes should they be away for any period of time and report any suspicious persons in their area immediately.

The RCMP Police in St. Albert are still receiving a number of complaints from the residents of St. Albert regarding noisy motorcycles and from property owners near St. Albert where motorcycles are being ridden without permission from the owners. The RCMP Police, in conjunction with Mr. Bud Banks, Edcon Block, Kelly Daniels, Community youth worker, and a local service club are still endeavouring to locate a site near St. Albert where motorcycles can be operated safely and without disturbing residents. Some difficulties have been experienced in locating title to the land and finalization with a service club to promote and supervise any area set aside. Should land become available for use by motorcycle and snow vehicle operation, it is hoped to organize clubs to develop this sport with emphasis on the proper operation, safety and mechanical instruction.

Replay for Lions bike-a-thon

Saturday's rain put a damper on the annual Lions Bike-a-thon resulting in only about 50 riders taking part. The next day, Sunday, saw another dozen riders completed the course. Lion John Kaminski is certain many riders who planned to take part but could not, and who have pledge cards to complete would like the opportunity to take the ride and remain eligible for the prizes.

Those who did ride in the rain may also take part in the re-run if they have new pledges. No one, who has not turned in his or her pledge money to either the Edmonton Savings and Credit Union or the Bank of Nova Scotia will be eligible for the prizes which will be awarded sometime near the end of June.

The bike-a-thon re-run will take place Saturday, June 4 at 9 a.m. For more information phone 459-6233.

Fourth floor closed at Sturgeon General

In a move to live within budgetary restrictions the fourth floor of the Sturgeon General Hospital was closed Tuesday, May 24 for a period of about three months. It is scheduled for re-opening on September 6.

Cliff Keyes, hospital administrator, said the Sturgeon General would save about $60,000 by this move, about the same as last year when the third floor was closed. The savings made during the slower summer months will be used as a 'cushion' for the coming winter.

Fence inadequate, residents unhappy

The issue of privacy has been raised again by residents living on property adjacent to Ronald Harvey School. The property owners had complained earlier this spring when construction began on the creative playground at the school. The residents had not anticipated the height of the berm at the playground, and felt their privacy was reduced by it.

The property owners have also been scrutinizing the three-foot fence between the school property and their own. The fence was installed by the developer of the area, Tworek, mentioned in his report that bed allotment (medical, surgical, maternity, etc.) was causing some inconvenience for scheduling surgery but that Administrator Keyes proposed policy of flexibility would solve this problem as best as possible under existing conditions. Dr. Tworek also was happy to report that the Victorian Order of Nurses were becoming more active in St. Albert and that this would certainly help ease the medical staffs workload during the busy summer when staff were taking holidays.

BACM, and is shorter than those usually provided.

The residents approached the city to see if it would provide a higher fence, but upon investigation, Mayor Richard Plain discovered that the fence is on school property, and so is the responsibility of school district 6.

At the regular meeting of the District 6 board last Wednesday, the board's chairman, Bill Webber, said they are quite happy with the fence and have no plans to change it at present.

Development agreement battle at an end?

The prolonged controversy over the West Grandin School development agreement may be coming to an end. The parties involved, the City of St. Albert and the District 6 school board, have reached a verbal agreement in regard to the agreement's terms.

The tentative settlement of differences was announced last Wednesday night at the regular meeting of the District 6 board. Board Chairman Bill Webber told those in attendance that he had met with the mayor two weeks ago to look at some alternatives in regard to the agreement, and at that time he expressed to Dr. Plain a desire to stage a meeting between the board and council. The mayor thought a private meeting would be in order, but the school board saw no benefit in such a meeting. Dr. Plain told Mr. Webber that he would discuss the matter of the board's requested terms with the council.

The school board had stipulated that clauses relating to traffic signs, traffic control devices and street lighting be deleted from the agreement, as well as the clause requiring the board to post a performance bond.

Mr. Webber stated that the mayor had phoned him

Wednesday morning to inform him that the city could present a development agreement that would be in agreement with the board's requirements. Mr. Webber then requested that Mr. Welsh, the city's attorney, meet with Mr. McIver, the board's attorney, before drawing up the final agreement. Mr. Webber stated that providing the new agreement meets the points raised by the board, he would be prepared to sign it.

Dr. Bill Cuts then asked if the agreement would be brought back before the board, and was told by Mr. Webber that it would not be, as the board had already agreed to sign it if the aforementioned clauses were deleted.

Dr. Cuts stated that "I still object to us being made subservient to the council" and that signing the agreement would be an act "downgrading to our prestige." He said he felt that the board should not be "stooping" to accept such an agreement, and that they were "shirking" their responsibilities. He further said that he would "have to do some thinking after this thing is signed," and that he might take some action of his own.

'Garbage candy' sweet nothing

The makers of junk food have reached a new low. So confident have they become of their captive audience of sugar-addicted youngsters, that any pretence at quality has been shrugged off.

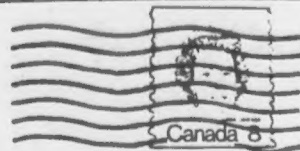

The latest example of the manufacturers' blatant disregard for nutritional values went on sale in St. Albert recently. The product is aptly named "Garbage Candy." And judging by its listed ingredients, it must have been brewed up in a test tube. The candy is made from dextrose, corn syrup solids, citric acid, magnesium stearate and artificial flavour and colours.

This appetizing potage of chemicals is served up to the public in a quaint little container in the shape of a garbage pail. The candies themselves are in the shapes of bones, tin cans, old shoes and dead, half-eaten fish. The whole package of 12 candies retails for 15¢.

With the advent of "Garbage Candies" an endless vista of possibilities awaits us. Anyone for "Dump Delights" or "Offal Bars"?

Traffic trials prompt suggestions

It is an undeniable fact that the majority of people who reside in St. Albert commute daily to Edmonton to their place of work, and that their hours of work give rise to the crises of peak hour traffic jams, of which we are all aware. Although there are several chronic areas for traffic congestion, I find that there are three in particular that are severe bottlenecks, namely the intersection of the St. Albert Trail and 137th Avenue, the Bonaventure traffic circle and the circle at the St. Albert Trail and 118th Avenue. I feel that not much can be done with the last mentioned obstacle, but I certainly think that there could be some relief with the other two.

It appears that there should be no great problem with creating an overpass for east-west traffic on 137th Avenue so that the traffic on the St. Albert Trail would proceed unhindered. It has always been a puzzle to me why the engineers who designed the Bonaventure traffic circle and surroundings failed to continue on with the excavation of the CNR underpass and continued the underpass past the location of the present circle, and thereby create something similar to the underpass at the Groat Road and 107th Avenue. At the time of construction it would have been a comparatively simple matter, but with today's heavy traffic there would obviously be problems with achieving this.

Although I see no easy solution to the problems at these two areas in particular, I do however feel that there should be a moratorium on all further expansion in St. Albert until some satisfactory solution can be found to alleviate the problem of access to Edmonton. This proposed moratorium should also apply to other communities to the north of St. Albert, via Morinville, Legal etc., as commuters from these other areas also perforce have to use the one and only road into Edmonton. This is not an easy problem to solve, for no matter what is done outside the City of Edmonton, the bottlenecks will still become more intense within the City of Edmonton, which again will reflect on traffic to St. Albert.

There is a slight hope of some relief in a different form. For three years now I have been advocating a rapid transit system to St. Albert, and on studying the plan of St. Albert it will be seen that this City is served by two separate rail lines, the CNR to the west of the City, and the NAR to the east. Neither of these routes is heavily used by the railway. Now if you follow the routes of the two lines, it will be seen that both meet close to the Bonaventure, and then proceed parallel to 122nd Street to the downtown Edmonton area. It now becomes a question of negotiation with the respective railway companies for service, since the right of way is already in existence. There should be no problem with equipment as the CNR must certainly have a surplus of Budd rail-liners due to abandonment of regional services elsewhere in Alberta. At least the idea could be tried out on an experimental basis at minimal cost. I am optimistic that the rapid transit I have proposed, in addition to the St. Albert bus system, might encourage more people to use public transportation to the relief of the St. Albert Trail.

Disagrees on "Bruno's"

After reading the article on Bruno's Restaurant in the Gazette, we are surprised and disgusted with the personal viewpoints of Vicky Knight.

We are St. Albert residents and make special trips regularly to visit this unique little restaurant on the south side of Edmonton.

Most of Bruno's regular patrons are professionals, some European, many having travelled extensively and acquired a taste for well-prepared food. Bruno personally prepares all sauces and supervises all preparations.

It is strange to read the comments on the pasta, for instance, described as doughy and flat-tasting. We have been told by a well-travelled dinner companion that Bruno's pasta is the best he has tasted.

Having many years experience in both Europe and Canada, Bruno has won many awards and is highly regarded in his field. Every course is personally prepared, no canned sauces or shortcuts used.

In Canada it seems we associate "bite" with flavour in Italian food, and most restaurants serve canned sauces over canned pasta. Perhaps we have not been introduced to the genuine mild flavour of true Italian cuisine.

If we may be allowed to express our personal opinion on Bruno's Restaurant, we appreciate the hours of preparation, the quality of the food, the cleanliness and of course, Bruno's individual attention.

MR. & MRS. F. BENDLE,

EDITOR'S NOTE:
Mrs. Knight has travelled in Europe and sampled Italian cooking in a number of noted restaurants in Italy.

Penny wronged by Legion

I am referring to a notice in your newspaper dated May 25, 1977 regarding a war veteran which gives me great concern.

I know the man personally as we were on bombing raids over Germany and we also served in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

As a member of the Canadian Legion myself, I feel Mr. Penny has contributed sufficient to warrant a life membership in the legion rather than suffer the embarrassment of having a granted one taken away.

I hope a full investigation will be carried out on the conduct and procedures of the executive of the St. Albert Branch.

at developing Big Lake for recreation. He was looking at the future within the Energy Crisis and said, "Our energy will be more expensive, we will not be able to drive to Jasper every weekend."

Alderwoman Margaret Smith was not too optimistic about the future of Big Lake in terms of recreation.

She pointed out that the lake was silting up and there was less capacity for recreation and flood control than there had been at the turn of the century. Then, Ald. Smith reminded everyone, paddle steamers had plied the lake. She wondered what the economics of dredging the lake as opposed to dyking it would be and pushed for non-motorized boating on the lake.

Mayor Plain complained that the river system was being destroyed again and again.

Mr. Barton talked of an ongoing problem at Big Lake; he referred to landowners dashing down to the lake to claim title when the lake level was down: and "seeking compensation when the lake level goes up!"

Pointing out that the natural level controlling factor of the river was seven or eight miles downstream from St. Albert, below the meanders, Mr. Barton pointed out that area would be no use for recreation. It would only provide ankle deep water if flooded.

Mr. Barton said that the lake level would be higher under managed conditions than under natural conditions.

With the lowest recorded level of Big Lake being at the 2131 foot contour and the highest at 2143 feet, Alberta Environment is recommending bringing the level up to 2135 feet if St. Albert wants to develop the lake for recreation.

Dyking is recommended at the 2145 foot contour to take care of one in one hundred year floods.

Mr. Barton told council the normal flow of the Sturgeon River through St. Albert is 500 cubic feet per second; in the 1974 flood that hit a peak of 3700 cubic feet per second.

Mr. Barton also told council that it takes 12-15 days for storm water to hit St. Albert from the Sturgeon system; also that the two upper lakes which contain 50 percent of the system's water do not contribute to flooding in St. Albert.

very easy and, according to the Wildlife official on hand at the stocking, it will not take long for the kids to pull most of the fish out of the lake.

This year only one stocking will be done but in future the lake will be stocked twice each year. The reason for stocking the lake before the official opening was simply one of timing. The city wanted the fish and they were available for delivery that same day. For anyone used to dealing with a bureaucracy this must come as quite a surprise. At any rate, the fish are here and the youngsters need only wait for the parks opening before they can begin casting their lines. Until then NO FISHING. The RCMP will be patrolling the area to make sure there are no violations.

Bernie would also like to remind residents that the city discourages any form of water activity in the lake for health reasons.

The date of the official opening of the park will be announced in the Gazette.

What Caught Our Eye

JUVENILE CRIME PROVOKES WIDESPREAD COMMENT
From Editorial Research Reports

Washington - A childhood sport of years gone by was placing pennies - or if you were a rich kid, dimes and quarters - on the railroad tracks. When a train came by it mashed the coins flat and, if you could find them again, you had some prized tokens to carry in your pocket.

Today some children, teen-agers, and a few adults who never grew up have found a new sport along the tracks - vandalism. They throw rocks, bottles, and other missiles at the locomotives, dining cars, and cabooses. They shoot at the engineers and passengers. They put old tires, auto bodies, or other debris on the tracks. They pull switches or change signals, trying to cause collisions or derailments. With growing frequency, their pranks are successful.

According to the Federal Railroad Administration, "there were 83,554 reported incidents of railroad vandalism in 1975, resulting in six deaths, 249 serious injuries, and nearly $11.5 million in property damage. Since 1965, 1,300 train accidents have been caused by vandals, resulting in 20 deaths and 225 injuries.

The Association of American Railroads compiles reports from the police division of about 30 railroads representing 77 percent of rail mileage in the United States and Canada. Their figures show that during the first nine months of 1976 there were 7,709 reported stonings of trains, 535 shooting incidents, 6,401 track obstructions and 18,665 miscellaneous incidents including switch tampering, property defacement, window breakages, and other vandalism.

Southern Pacific's Los Angeles division reported more than two dozen incidents of vandalism during the month of October alone. A Pacific Electric engineer was hit by a rock that came through the windshield of his engine. A Chessie System train ran off an industrial siding in Michigan after vandals changed a switch; two tank cars caught fire and burned for days, requiring the temporary evacuation of 1,800 area residents.

Some state legislatures have tried to deal with railroad vandalism. In Florida, a bill was passed making it a second-degree felony to shoot at or throw anything at trains, with offenses punishable by imprisonment of one to 14 years. The state also began an educational campaign in which county sheriff's deputies visit school classes, PTA meetings, and other gatherings to stress the seriousness of the problem. California's penal code also provides stiff fines or imprisonment for railroad vandals.

But most railroad employees want federal legislation, prescribing penalties for violators. "They catch these guys - you'd be surprised how many of them are under 15 - and the judges just let them go," complained a Federal Railroad Administration official.

MPC vote down storage yard

Municipal Planning Commission voted down a proposed storage yard May 24 slated for a point west of the St. Albert Trail just opposite Newman College.

The storage yard would have been for recreational vehicles, cars and trucks.

Mayor Dick Plain pointed out that the development was "another Jasper Auto Parts" in an area which was basically residential.

In other MPC business, the commission passed a resolution that proposed changes in the height of buildings beyond the 40 foot mark would require the permission of MPC or council.

The decision came up in the content of a discussion on office and commercial development between Gervais Road, the St. Albert Trail and Gloucester Drive.

Mayor Dick Plain did not see what the concern was on putting such limits on building heights pointing out, "If we get a government building, I do not want to see us prevent it."

SEMI-DETACHED HOUSING APPLICATIONS

Applications for semi-detached housing will be treated on a minimum size and minimum assessment ($5500) basis, following a decision to that effect by MPC.

Applications will likely be rejected unless they conform to these standards.

Council and MPC will be looking more closely at these matters.

Alderman Barry Breadner, chairman of the MPC says that the commission should proceed with great care "because of the precedent on assessment."

He also added that he "liked the looks of duplexes I see here - they do give a break in sameness."

The recommendations on semi-detached housing applications were in the context of future developments in the Lacombe Park and Akinsdale areas of St. Albert.

How to control those caterpillars

By St. Albert Information Officer

Forest tent caterpillars are here again (don't we know it?) and will be around until about the third week in June.

In the latter part of June they migrate to suitable cocooning sites. After about 10 to 15 days inside the cocoon they emerge as a buff brown or yellow colored moth which become a nuisance again when they are attracted to light bulbs in the evening.

Only slight damage is caused by a light infestation, but if a tree or shrub is completely defoliated by the caterpillars, it will be weakened - and occurring two or three years in a row it could succumb to disease. The natural preference of the tent caterpillar is Aspen Poplar, but city dwellers will also find them on Green Ash, Mountain Ash, Mayday, fruit trees and some shrubs.

Control is fairly simple on shrubs and smaller trees as the clusters of caterpillars which cling together can easily be picked off and dropped into a bag or squashed underfoot. They usually cluster in early morning, early evening or in cool weather.

Control on larger trees can be effected by spraying with Malathion 50% emulsifiable concentrate at the rate of two tsp. to one gallon of water. Malathion should not be applied when the air temperature is below 20 degrees C. Read all instructions and precautions as listed on the container by the manufacturer and follow them carefully.

To aid in reducing next years hatch, check the branches of trees and shrubs within reach and remove the egg bands which encircle the smaller twigs (pencil size and a little larger). The adult moth lays eggs in July and early August, but the eggs can most easily be spotted and removed after the leaves drop off, but before the new leaves appear in the spring.

The 1/4" to 3/4" wide grayish egg bands can be removed by pruning off the small twig or by cutting the band and taking it off or by scraping it off. Drop them in a can or a bag and dispose of them.

Request plebiscite on drinking age

Should a plebiscite be held on raising the legal drinking age from 18 to 21? The Alcohol-Drug Education Association of Alberta has requested the Legislature to do just that, following a cross-section survey on the issue of teen-age drinking in the province. The survey revealed that 69.6 percent were in favor of raising the drinking age; 60.1 percent were in favor of raising the age to 21; and 74.5 percent were in favor of holding a plebiscite on the matter.

Several institutions, associations and members of the press have come out in favor of an amendment to the legal age. The Alberta School Trustees Association has passed a resolution to that effect, basing their opinion on an Ontario report from the Addiction Research Foundation. The report indicated that, in the period since all 10 province's lowered the legal age, high school usage of alcohol has risen from 46.3 percent of the students to 72.9 percent.

The Alberta Trucking Association approves raising the age to 21, as does the Alberta Heart Foundation Association.

A Task Force Survey Report presented to the Hon. Helen Hunley stated that the incidence of fatal alcohol-related crashes involving young drivers has increased since the lowering of the drinking age.

Servicing of industrial park that much nearer

Little was said at last week's regular St. Albert council meeting as council gave first reading to "$1,981,500 worth" of by-laws to get servicing of the Campbell Industrial Park underway.

The bylaws, 22-26/77 were read en bloc and the near two million dollar figure to get first stage servicing of the industrial park on the go is to be paid by way of local improvements.

Roads, curbs, gutters, street lighting, landscaping and rail leads have to go into stage one of the industrial park at a cost of $903,300.

Water mains add another $199,500 to the bill, and storm sewers $705,700.

Sanitary sewers will cost $137,300 and power distribution $35,000.

Debentures will be paid back over 25 years in annual installments at not more than 12 percent interest.

Alderman Rod Thronson asked Mayor Dick Plain if there were any firm commitments for development on the land.

Mayor Plain replied the city did not have a development agreement.

"That is the only answer," he added.

Freeze puts hospital board in bind

The provincial government's freeze on hospital construction has created some problems for the Sturgeon General. A much needed second Case Room will likely not be built until after the freeze is lifted.

Board member Clay Crozier felt that applying a little more pressure on appeal for the case room might bring positive results on a project of this small scale, but Chairman Stan Walker says there is no chance the Alberta Hospital Committee would agree to any new construction.

The problem is compounded by the upcoming construction of new floors for the three existing operating rooms, a contract which received the go ahead before the freeze came into effect. If a second case room could be built before the new floors were to be installed, either it or the existing case room could be used as an operating room in case of emergency and still leave the hospital with one operational case room.

Dr. E. J. Tworek, hospital chief of staff, pointed out that an emergency operating room was absolutely imperative while the new floors were being installed and unless one was available the medical people on staff would likely recommend closing the hospital for the 10 day period of construction.

The board was left with a choice of three alternatives - using either the emergency section or the existing case room as an emergency operating room, or, postponing construction of the new floors.

The use of the emergency section was immediately ruled out because it is already overtaxed and summer is the busiest season for emergency treatment.

If the board choose to postpone construction of the floors the contract would lapse and put members in the position of having to get the contract re-approved under the freeze, an unlikely possibility.

The eventual choice was unanimous. The existing case room would be scrubbed down, a project involving no additional costs, and used as the emergency operating room during the period of construction, July to August.

The board members feel that, in light of unencouraging indications from the Commission regarding construction of a second case room, they have made the prudent decision in going ahead with the new floor construction at this time. Once the new floors are in they can again concentrate on the new case room.

City Alderperson Myrna Fyfe, was sworn in by John de Bruijn as one of three city council representatives on the Hospital Board Wednesday, May 25. Myrna is replacing Armand Donais who has been transferred to Regina.

St. Albert Council Briefs

Following are some of the highlights from the regular meeting of St. Albert council May 24. All councillors were present, with Mayor Dick Plain in the chair.

COUNCIL CARRIED amendments to bylaws 24/76 and 25/76. The Local Authorities Board has approved the amendments for borrowing money under local improvements for the city's covered swimming pool, racquet sports facilities and tennis courts. Following these approvals St. Albert will borrow $1,156,562, not $1,026,000, for the pool, owing to increased costs.

The city will also be able to borrow a further $46,340 for the new arena and other recreation facilities.

Total estimated cost of the pool is $1,710,000 and the amount for the arena was originally estimated at $1,150,000.

COUNCIL GAVE 1st, 2nd and 3rd reading to bylaw 19/77 which rezones lands on the north bank of the Sturgeon River between Bellerose Drive and the St. Albert Trail for the $50 million shopping centre to be developed jointly by Abacus Cities and the Bay. The lands have been taken from Development Control to C1 (commercial), park and residential (R3A).

Riverside Sales, owner of the southwesterly corner of riverlot 28 wants to include that parcel in the zoning proposal.

President of Riverside Sales Arthur Perrot was advised by council to present his request to Director of City Planning Wayne Gordon.

A WHOLE SHEAF of recommendations from Municipal Planning Commission was carried by council. They were that a minimum of five, six and 10 acres of public reserve be allocated adjacent to elementary junior high and senior schools; also that the city provide school sites, as required by respective school boards, within the terms of its development agreement with developers.

It was also carried that the title for these proposed school sites be vested with St. Albert, and made available for school building purposes upon request from respective school boards. But this is to be with a caveat attached, stipulating that when no longer required for school purposes, the subject lands revert back to the city.

Other recommendations carried were that standard frontage servicing costs for elementary and junior high school sites be borne in future by the developer.

Another recommendation carried was that the right of way width standard for a major arterial roadway be 400 feet, where berming is required on both sides, and 285 feet where berming is required on one side only.

JUNE 20 will be the date for a public hearing (at city council) for the rezoning of an area of land bounded by Gilchrist Place to the north and Grandin Road to the west. The land is slated for rezoning from development control to single family residential and park.

JUNE 22 has been set for the date of a public hearing on the city's general plan adoption bylaw. It will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall annex.

NOT LONG after St. Albert's new bus schedules took effect April 25 this year it became apparent an additional bus was needed during morning and afternoon peak periods. An information item from the city engineer says the city's 11th bus, which it had just received, was called upon to meet the need.

It was decided to have that bus run on the A6 route at 6:53 a.m. and then go to the government centre from St. Albert terminal at 7:20 a.m.

At 4:35 p.m. the bus leaves Edmonton for St. Albert and then does the A3 route.

Additional cost for this run to the end of the year will be $11,403.84.

Because of minor adjustments to the schedule after the 1977 budget was set, the additional run costs will not cause an overrun.

The information item also states that 1977 contract costs with Edmonton for transit are now projected $5,000 less than the budgeted amount of $531,465.

S. HOLMAN
SECRETARY.

COUNCIL GAVE its blessing to a 2800 square foot extension to the fire hall costing $108,929. The contract for the extension was awarded to Harsim Construction (1972) Ltd.

ALDERWOMAN Myrna Fyfe was appointed city member of the Sturgeon Hospital Board.

MAYOR PLAIN and the chairman of School District 6 are expected to get heads together soon on solving the "fence" problem in the Langley Park and Ronald Harvey school area. Complaints on fencing increased when it became known a creative playground was going to be placed in the park.

Alderwoman Margaret Smith wants the problem solved by the end of August at least. The city is recommending that the existing fence remain but wants to allow residents to build their own fence to a maximum of six feet. The fence in question was built on public property and not on private residential property.

It is also recommended that the fence could be replaced by the city, as well as by residents.

Tom Flynn named Lion of the Year

Highlighting the presentations at the St. Albert Breakfast Lions President's Appreciation Night last Friday evening was the announcement that Tom Flynn had been voted Lion of the Year by the club's board of directors.

In presenting the inscribed plaque which accompanies the award President Gene Scantland introduced Tom as "Somebody who has contributed more than anyone else over the year - somebody with more enthusiasm than anyone else." He congratulated Lion Tom on his outstanding effort on behalf of the Breakfast Club.

The special event was held in the Senior Citizens Rec Centre beginning with a supper for the Lions and their wives, and it was the ladies that Mr. Scantland mentioned first on the "appreciation" program. Cecile Flynn was thanked by the president for her work on the club's scrapbook and Mary Strumbecki, "who was the best help her husband had in looking after the dog races for the winter carnival." Appreciation was also extended to Marg Jones who helped Joe considerably in handling the car raffle tickets, and to Madeline Scantland who "handled all those phone calls and does a lot of worrying for the president."

Certificates of appreciation were awarded to Gerry Boychuk, breakfast money collector and fabulous photographer; Al Race, treasurer and keeper of the money; Bob Chaput who looked after advertising, the roster and printing of the bulletin and to Lorne Johnson who organized booth workers for the dream home tickets project and worked on the trade fair. Mike Basaraba was awarded a certificate for his work on visitations - a right hand for Floyd McCurry; Vince Ratchinsky, "the money man" for work on the casino and the bike-athon; Chuck Meurin for his assistance in sponsoring the Alberta Beach, Legal and Kiverbend clubs; Ernie Wrynchuk, who looks after the paraphernalia and is keeper of the gongs, and John Kaminski for his work on the bike-a-thon and the community band.

President's Appreciation awards, consisting of a medallion on a deep blue ribbon were presented next by Mr. Scantland, beginning with Dr. Cuts, a 25-year Lion and charter member of the St. Albert Lions Club who was congratulated on his efforts in sponsoring the Legal, Alberta Beach, Spruce Grove, St. Albert Breakfast and Riverbend Lions clubs. Medallions were also presented to Bill Zielinski, "reminder to the president" club representative on the Interclub Council and worker on the student exchange program; and to Floyd McCurry "who was instrumental in the Breakfast Lions Club qualifying for the District 37B Proficiency Award, through his work on visitations. As top club in the District, St. Albert was 102 points higher than Westlock, who placed second.

Chairman Awards went to Andy Kampen who has served three years as club chairman of the hockey tournament held at winter carnival, and is presently working on a major project which the club will be announcing soon, and to Don Merrell, last year's Lion of the Year, overall carnival chairman for two years, and a hard worker on the dream home project.

Local musicians score high in festival

A number of St. Albert entrants received special awards in the Kiwanis Music Festival held recently in Edmonton.

Susan Schuchard Iginla won the McGibbon trophy for the best performance in vocal solo open classes. The grade 5 choral speech class from Our Lady of Lourdes school, directed by Richard Schuchard received the Austin O'Brien Shield for performance in grade choral speech.

Students of Mrs. Frances Schuchard who were 1st place winners were: Arthur Berard, school boys solo, grade 9; Catherine Alberts, school girls solo, grade 7; Susan Schuchard Iginla, girls high soprano solo; Martha Schuchard, speech recital; Mary Lou Lukay and Martha Schuchard, dramatic interpretation.

The St. Albert Belles, a recently formed singing group, received high marks with a first place in vocal ensemble, folk, modern idiom.

The Balmoral Balladeers, a community music group were composed this year of Grade 3 students from Vital Grandin, directed by Joan, assisted by Eileen Alberts, and Grade 3 students from Bertha Kennedy and students from Father Jan, plus several parents who joined the group. These singers were well received and earned a high mark with a first place.

In second place were: Martha Schuchard in three classes, dramatic poetry, lyric poetry and story telling; and a trio comprised of Mary Lou Lukay, Martha Schuchard and Joan Reiger in the girls trio class. Joan Reiger in piano sight playing, Jeff Alberts in school boys solo, grade 3, and Susan Schuchard Iginla in Sacred Solo. 19 and under also were awarded second places.

375 children learn safety rules for riding bikes

Reported by Betty Pimblett of St. Albert Safety Council
The pedal pushers program, sponsored by the St. Albert Safety Council, was beset with difficulties from the beginning this year. For various reasons, including the illness of the chairman, several safety council members were unavailable to help with the organization and setting up of the program, throwing the burden of his job onto just four members. As over 370 children were finally registered, (about 100 more than last year) it can be realized that this was no light burden. The actual registration worked well, where the schools co-operated -- and most did. But there were those - who shall be nameless -- where the forms did not reach the children until the deadline day of Thursday, April 28. As the forms went out to all schools not later than the morning of Friday, April 22, and over half had them on the afternoon of Thursday, April 21, the blame was clearly not the children's if some registrations were late. Where this was proved to be the case, forms were collected as late as Tuesday, May 3, but there were still phone calls from a number of irate parents.

The next problem was a lack of volunteers in some areas, notably in the Grandin area. In other areas there was a surplus of bike checkers, probably because parents did not know what was involved in instructing, but many of these were later persuaded to instruct, and the problem was solved. As new people volunteer each year, there are only a few who know what is involved, so this is a recurring problem, but the instruction materials are quite clear and a class is always held to go over the details and answer questions.

This year, in Grandin, where only seven people were available all four nights to instruct, and over 100 children were registered, only the hard work of the co-ordinators and these seven instructors, in persuading more parents to volunteer, enabled us to accommodate all these children.

Last -- but by no means least -- was the lack of co-operation of the weather.

Arrangements had been made through the co-ordinators, for instructors to phone all children for whom they were responsible, in the event a postponement was necessary due to weather conditions. Due to the rapidity with which our weather changes, a postponement is usually delayed as long as possible.

This reporter started to receive phone calls on the Sunday afternoon before the program started!

These calls continued -- approximately 50 of them -- throughout Monday, May 16, and continued as a steady trickle during the rest of the program. The only people who might have been expected to call were the co-ordinators, but for the most part, these able people went ahead and made their own decisions.

While it is appreciated that parents -- and children -- become anxious, we ask that people remember that safety council members are volunteers, and any contact phone number is in a private home -- and this volume of calls can and does seriously disrupt one's day!

Arrangements are always made to contact the parents by phone; previously we have been luckier with the weather, and it is to be hoped this is the case in the future.

The program itself went well in all areas. Co-ordinators did an excellent job of planning, and instructors, bike checkers and other helpers all worked well to keep the program running smoothly.

The St. Albert Safety Council extends grateful thanks to all those parents who volunteered their time that our children might learn something about safety as it applies to them and their bicycle riding. Congratulations to the more than 370 children who took the course. We shall hope to see some good bicycle riding this summer from all of you.

LES AND ROBERTA HEALY wish to express their sincere thanks to Dr. Ramer and the 2nd floor nursing staff of the Sturgeon General Hospital for the kindness and support at the time of the loss of their infant daughter.

EDUCATION COMMENT

Campus night watch deters sexual assailants

Apprehensive staff and students crossing the U of A campus at night may relax a little now, thanks to a student-organized "Night-Watch." The project was established as a result of sexual assaults on campus.

A Gateway advertisement in mid-January warned "campus women" that "there have been numerous sexual assaults on women travelling from campus late at night" and advised them "to travel in pairs" and vary their routes home.

This had not been the first mention of the problem. A year ago, the Academic Women's Association responded to similar concerns expressed in the General Faculties Council and attempted to find out how high the incidence of on-campus sexual assault was. An electronic secretary was set up to record calls telling of sexual assaults of all kinds, not just rape. In less than two months, 40 different cases were recorded, involving both male and female victims.

According to the University Health Service and the Rape Crisis Centre, the numbers vary and are considered to be low. Tricia Smith, director of the Edmonton Rape Crisis Centre, states that between 22 and 27 victims from the university community have sought help from the centre since its opening last May. However, she added that this was probably only a fraction of those actually assaulted, as the experience is frequently too traumatic for the victim to talk about it.

However, the General Faculties Council considered that any number of sexual assaults was a matter for concern, and so formed a committee to determine what actions could be taken to aid victims and deter further assaults. The most obvious need it perceived was for some kind of night-time patrol, both inside and outside campus buildings.

Thus, Night Watch was established, on a trial basis until the end of the term. Men and women students wearing bright orange arm bands with NW on them walk in pairs through and around campus buildings, particularly those where students and staff tend to keep late hours. They attempt to be at exits when classes and special events end and libraries close, and will be available to escort people to their cars or safely onto a bus.

It is hoped that Night Watch will deter loiterers and possible assailants. The patrollers carry only flashlights and radios, and can be sent where needed. They are dispatched from their office headquarters in the Students Union Building.

Those feeling nervous about crossing the campus can reach Night Watch at 432-3214. Night Watch wishes to hear from people who feel certain areas on campus are potentially risky. On the positive side, they wish also to hear from people who feel safer as a result of the patrol's activities, in order to assess the program's effectiveness.

The committee also plans a publication of a list of things to do when faced with a sexual attack.

After the trial period, a report will be made to the General Faculties Council on the results of the project. If its usefulness is proven, and it is approved by the council, funding agencies at the University will be approached to provide the patrol system next year.

Report on Phys. Ed. tabled

Research on physical education in Alberta schools, were tabled in the Legislature recently by Education Minister Julian Koziak.

The reports reviewed the extent to which physical education should be compulsory, the nature of extra costs borne by parents for some programs, and the incidence of injuries to students.

The 5,000 questionnaires answered by parents and students revealed that the respondents feel physical education in schools is the basic program through which children develop physical fitness, and that physical education should be compulsory to grade 12. It was also felt that p.e. should be a daily activity, instead of the 2-3 times per week as is usually offered. The respondents indicated that students should have some choice in selecting specific activities.

In regard to costs, responses from 106 randomly selected schools indicated that most schools charge for or require supply of uniforms, locker use, insurance, and special fees for community-based activities such as curling, skiing and football. Costs vary from a low of $15 for a gym suit to a high of $134, depending on the community-based activities selected by senior students. Additional student costs were encountered for transportation and related expenses for interschool competitions. Many schools engaged in fund-raising projects to cover such costs.

The study of reportable injuries taking place in 65 randomly selected elementary schools from May 1975 to May 1976 revealed that the chances of injury to a boy were slightly over 12 in 1,000, and to a girl, about eight in 1,000. From kindergarten to grade six, 60 percent of all injuries occurred during recess or noon hour free play periods. Only four percent took place during organized play at recess or at noon. Most injuries affected teeth, face and head of boys. Other injuries were to hands and arms, or to feet, knees and legs.

A parallel study of 61 secondary schools indicated that the probability of injury to students in grades 7-12 was 25 in 1,000 for boys, and 20 in 1,000 for girls. Most injuries occurred during physical education instruction with some during noon-hour free play or intramural games, or after regular school hours. Most injuries were sprains, breaks and bruises to ankles, knees and feet, hands and heads.

NOW MORE THAN EVER, IT'S IMPORTANT YOU CALL YOUR GAS COMPANY BEFORE YOU BREAK GROUND.

Damage payments in the thousands of dollars! Extensive downtime! A community angry because its gas supply has been cut off! Tragic explosions!

These things happen too often. To contractors, backhoe operators, even to backyard power posthole diggers.

Maybe it's because Alberta is such a busy place. In the past year over 465 miles of underground gas mains were installed in Northwestern Utilities' service area. That makes a total of 6,720 miles of them plus over 210,000 individual service lines. How does a person know where to start digging?

Plan to call your gas company's "Pipe Locator Team" at least 48 hours before you dig. They have radio dispatch trucks. They'll come and stake out the alignment of all gas lines so you can dig safely. The service is free. Your life is worth the effort.

Changes recommended in school planning, funding

The Woods-Gordon report on "School Facilities Logistics" was released recently by Education Minister Julian Koziak. The study reviewed provincial policies and procedures relating to planning, construction and funding of schools in Alberta.

The report reveals generous provision of educational facilities across the province. The per capita support is above the Canadian average, and the quality and design of space are rated excellent. The report also confirms that the building Quality Restoration Program is getting good results.

Included in the report's proposals for planning and funding is a recommendation that the level of provincial support for new construction be varied according to the ratio of anticipated vacant and occupied student places. Systems with some vacant spaces would get decreased provincial support, while systems with excess vacant space would have to provide new schools entirely from local revenue.

The report suggests adjusting provincial support rates according to the local school board property tax base. Systems with low assessments would get most of their approved school building costs from provincial funds.

It was also recommended that the activities of the School Buildings Board be shifted from approval of building design to intensive consultation during the early planning stages.

In addition, the report encouraged the development of community facilities planning groups to work with school boards and the province to reflect community use of schools.

Mr. Koziak commented that if implemented, that the recommendations would have major consequences for school boards, community and municipal authorities and the province.

Kinsmen add flea market to rodeo attractions

It's the time of year again for the famous St. Albert Rodeo. The one they call the Rainmaker. However, this year the Kinsmen are prepared for the occasion by putting on a three day indoor Flea Market or swap-meet as some people call it.

This is an attraction that is everyone's favorite, regardless of whether they are 12 or 90. If you are a collector seeking antiques or a teenager in search of odd items of interest, or maybe an ordinary family man looking for a bargain on tools and such, or a housewife looking for plants and knick-knacks for the house or apartment, a flea market is the place to go.

This gigantic indoor flea market will be held in the arena on Perron street from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. with approximately 180 tables of antiques, collectibles, baking, jewellery, handicrafts, woodcrafts, plants, Canadiana, bottles, Avon collection, depression glass, bells, miscellaneous and much, much more. So come on out during Rodeo Days on June 17, 18 and 19, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Don't miss it. There is something for everyone.

VEHICLE CHECK

Planning to travel by car? Get a safety check from your garage before you start out. Repair and replace worn parts and avoid the worry and the time-consuming costly repairs that could spoil your trip. Check your spare tire! Carry a flashlight, flares, first-aid kit, fire extinguisher and tow chain or strap, stowed so that they can be reached easily in case of an emergency. Don't forget your sunglasses, road map, note book and pencil or pen. They'll come in handy on any trip.

A look at where we are in a growing metropolitan area

This map shows the areas proposed for annexation by the city councils of St. Albert and Edmonton. Hearings are presently underway by the Local Authorities Board on the St. Albert proposal to annex 5520 acres.

St. Albert's hearing is expected to finish sometime in June, although this could be extended. MD Sturgeon, which is opposing the annexation (which comes out of MD boundaries) will be heard June 20.

The City of Edmonton states it is opposing the St. Albert annexation because of the immensity of the proposed boundary expansion and therefore its potential impact on the Edmonton metropolitan area. Edmonton also takes the position that certain physical services, particularly water could not be provided beyond the initial development stages without heavy capital investment, and foresees serious problems in the integration of the annexation area with the Edmonton transportation network.

Originally barred from the Local Authorities Board hearing, Edmonton took its case to a judge and received a favourable ruling, which may mean that their case will be presented to the L.A.B.

It may be seen on the map that the St. Albert annexation and the Batoni Bowlen proposal for land to be annexed to Edmonton, would if both were approved, overlap. The potential would then be present for future development in that portion of the greenbelt (R.D.A.). And as the met area grows there could be enormous pressure for such development.

TWO FUTURE ANNEXATIONS

On June 29 the delayed BACM hearings will commence at L.A.B. on that firm's proposal to annex 1900 acres which would house some 25,000 people to the north-east of St. Albert's present boundaries.

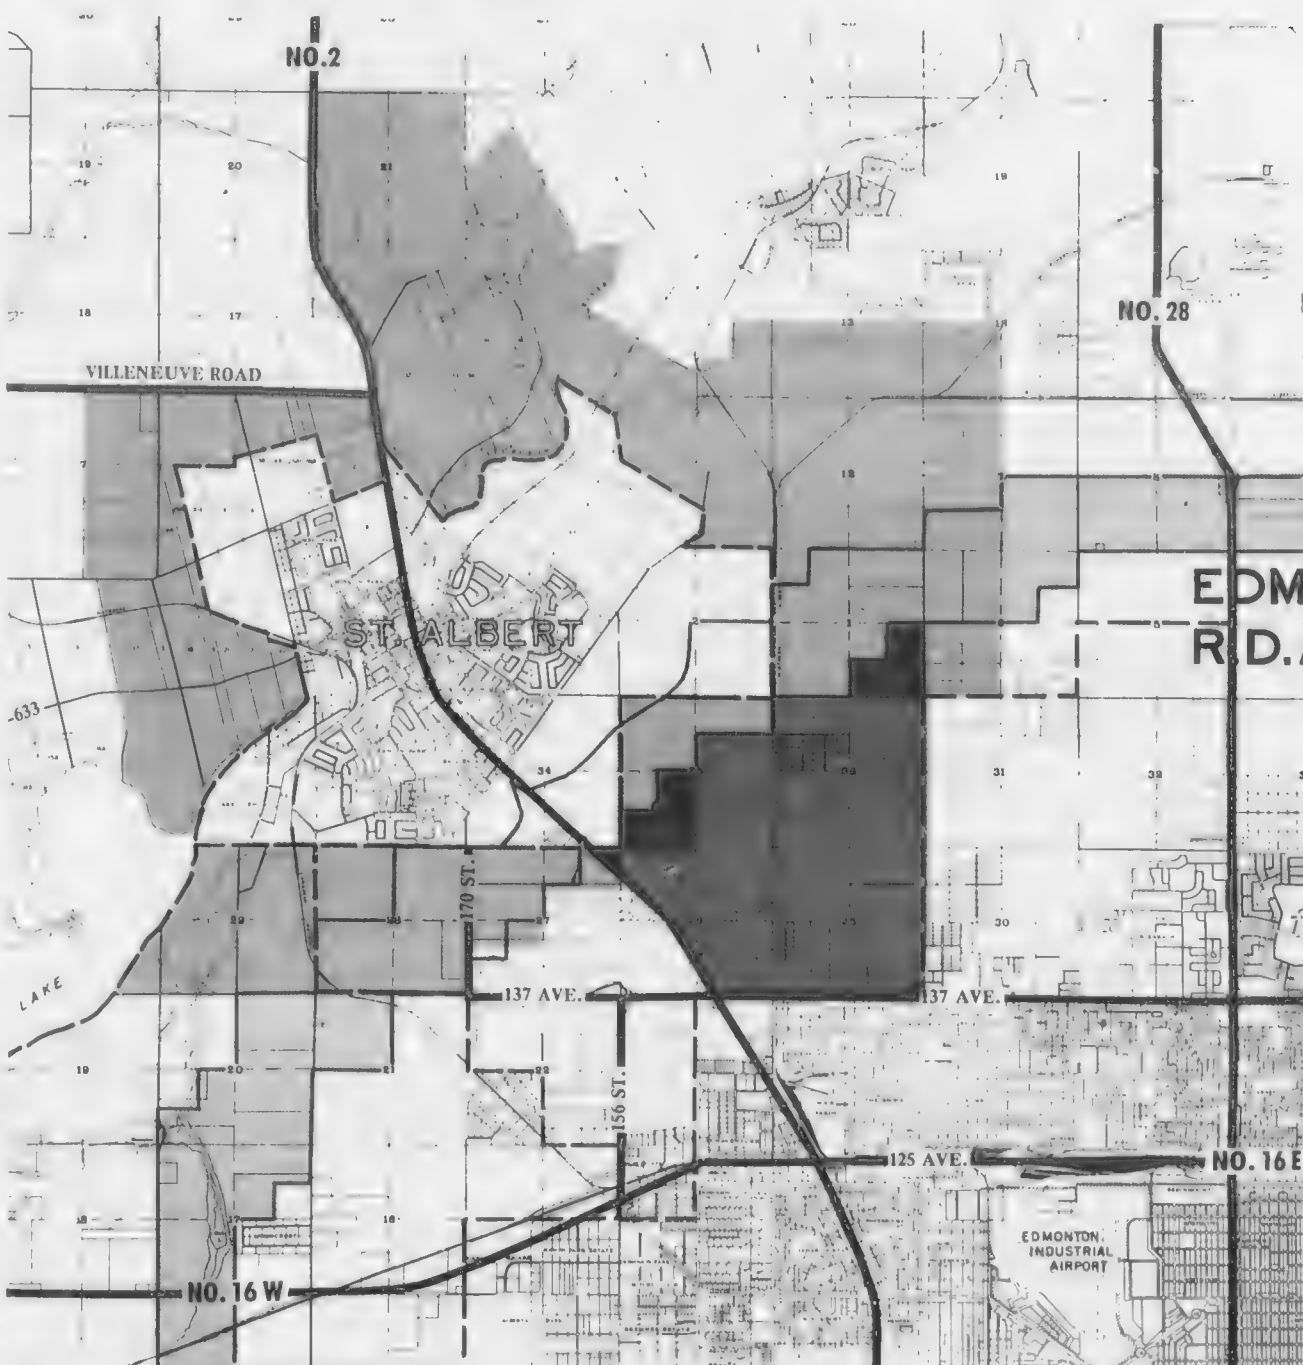

Another submission will be coming before the Local Authorities Board for annexation of 1700 acres to accommodate about 21,000 people. These were the proposals which St. Albert residents voted against in February. However it would seem evident that the developers of the large shopping centre recently approved (Abacus Cities and the Bay) are assuming the eventual development of these two areas, owned by developers.

CASTLE DOWNS EXPANSION

The second phase of the Castle Downs development is now well underway, extending one mile north of 170th avenue. This development will be on the east boundary of St. Albert if the St. Albert annexation goes through.

A TOUGH PROBLEM

While the development of a major by-pass road to the east of St. Albert is greatly to be desired, the increase in the cost of land in the area has been so great that this

This map shows the St. Albert annexation area in context with the City of Edmonton. The red portion is the area which St. Albert is presently applying to the Local Authorities Board for annexation. The dark grey portion shows a proposed annexation to Edmonton by developers route looks less and less feasible - it appears to be out of reach cost-wise. The City of St. Albert, for example, was forced to pay $3.55 million for 160 acres of unserviced land in the area for an industrial park.

Batoni-Bowlen. The blackish red area is proposed for annexation by both Batoni-Bowlen and the City of St. Albert. The R.D.A. (greenbelt) area is shown in light grey. Roads presently in place, including those due for upgrading this year are marked.

FUTURE ANNEXATIONS?

Looking at the map it seems probable that it is only a matter of time before either the City of Edmonton or a developer will apply to the LAB to annex all the land south of the R.D.A. to Edmonton.

BIGGEST PROBLEMS

Costs of future development in St. Albert and the whole met area will be enormous for roads, public transport, water, sewer, protection and people services. The loss of land and assessment through annexations could bring the MD Sturgeon and the Sturgeon School Division to bankruptcy.

It is increasingly difficult for young people in particular, but other people coming into the area as well, to find homes at a price range they can afford. This may have some effect on population projections for St. Albert, Edmonton and Sherwood Park.

St. Albert, along with practically all municipalities is pressing for a substantial increase in funding. However at present both the Federal and Provincial governments are taking a hard look at projected costs of existing programs, and the restraint policies in effect may remain in effect for some time. So the nagging problem at the back of the growth of the Edmonton metropolitan area is finding a solution for taxpayers as the growth continues.

If the excellent downtown core concept by Bittorf-Holland-Christianson Ltd. can begin developing soon, and with the shopping centre going in, St. Albert will have a more balanced tax base.

The industrial development of Campbell Park may be a long time in coming, lacking services including roads, and facing stiff competition from serviced industrial parks already in place in the metropolitan area.

LAB HEARING COSTS

Another problem with hearings into annexations by the Local Authorities is the costs involved, with studies commissioned, lawyers hired to present cases for municipalities, these costs to municipalities have become a real burden. Total cost of the hearings on the St. Albert annexation, to St. Albert, the MD and possibly the city, could reach a half million dollars of taxpayers money. A solution could be to have the municipalities involved meet together beforehand, with all their cards on the top of the table, and resolve as many objections as possible, before taking only the unresolved questions to the L.A.B.

A Look at Other Centres

Blackie farmer must pay company

The Supreme Court of Alberta has ordered a farmer from Blackie, Alberta to pay $36,135 to Canbra Food Limited of Lethbridge. The decision marks the food company's biggest victory in 40 disputes with rapeseed growers over contracts for the 1972-73 crop.

So far, out of 13 cases decided in the courts, Canbra has won all 13, with two appeals pending. The situation arose during 1972 when 1800 farmers had contracts with the company. Market prices increased sharply; all but 40 farmers delivered their rapeseed to the company at prices as low as $2.50 a bushel. The processor was forced to buy rapeseed at market prices as high as $8 a bushel when producers balked at delivery.

Canbra has six more disputes over 1973 contracts with rapeseed producers that have yet to reach court. Another 20 disputes were settled out of court.

Students and staff of Vincent J. Maloney School are seen here presenting a cheque for $1,000 to Father Al Roy. The money, which was raised by Share-Lent projects, will be used toward the development of peace in the Third World. The students donated $750 earlier this year for missions in Bangladesh. The Year the Moon Turned to Cream Cheeze

It was the year 1970, and it was very hot outside and then! Suddenly a bald man was walking by, and a glob of cream cheeze fell on his head! He was mad, he said, "O.K. wise guy, come out like a man." But nobody answered. This time he was furious. "I mean it," he hollered. But still nobody replied. The man was hoarse. But the man was not the only one who got splurged with cream cheeze. Two honey-mooners got splurged, a plane pilot, a lady with a baby, a little boy and a policeman on duty. On the other side of the world at night the same thing happened for a whole year.

Finally a scientist found out the moon turned to cream cheeze because it was so hot. One winter the moon froze because it was so cold. Finally it was normal again. And nobody got splurged.

Ronald Harvey School holds track day

By Anna Nord

A very successful track and field day was held at the Ronald Harvey Elementary School on Thursday, May 26. The weather co-operated and thanks to the city playground department the grounds were in excellent condition. The students had a choice of several events and earned red, blue or white ribbons depending on the standard they were able to achieve.

The staff and students wish to thank the parents who volunteered to help on the track, on the field and in the kitchen. The donation of time and energy was greatly appreciated.

A man and his wife were getting a divorce. He described the situation this way:

"It's a friendly separation - I get to keep whatever falls off the truck as she's driving it away."

Paul Kane News

By Carolyn Seltz

Two weeks have gone by since last I wrote here and during that time I have discovered that perhaps some people do read my articles after all. My published opinion of the cafeteria has had a few repercussions. In addition to that, I found that, in one case, my implications were not specifically realistic.

They say that in the long run, the truth will out. It has. Last week the cafeteria staff and the loud-mouthed few, myself included, who had voiced their concerns, met for a period or two to try to work out the grounds each side stood on. Present for the student faction were: Mr. Tingley, a concerned teacher; Bruce Sloan, who had canvassed other students for constructive suggestions toward menu improvement, and a P.K. presidential candidate; Lynn Bosetti, our present Students' Union president; David Kraus, who had some constructive suggestions; another student who didn't feel like attending classes (though he turned out to have some good ideas, once he found out what the meeting was about) and, of course, me. Rallying on the cafeteria side were: Mrs. Rigler, supervisor of CNIB in Alberta, and two of the ladies who work daily in our cafeteria, Mrs. Furber and Mrs. Morrisetti. After working around our difficulties for some time, we discovered that we were apparently all standing on the same side of the fence, beating our heads against a brick wall called the school board. According to Mrs. Rigler, the District 6 School Board had okayed the prices of food in the cafeteria; cafeteria staff have to work realistically around that price standard. CNIB does not have the authority to change the prices and yet they must stay within the student price range. Mrs. Morrisetti, the lady who sets up our menus, said that she would love to serve a steak sandwich, but, according to the present price standard, it would cost in the vicinity of $2 or $3. Bruce gave the cafeteria ladies the student menu suggestions and our meeting broke up. Despite our seeming impasse, however, this week's menu looks good. Many of the student suggestions are on it and prices seem to be as low as they can presently make them. The cafeteria staff have done all they can and I thank them for it. Any additional changes anyone might wish to instigate will, it seems, have to go directly to the school board. So much for my expose.

For the past week, P.K. hallways have been sprouting posters for next year's Students Union candidates, legitimate or otherwise. Most numerous and vociferous among the posters invoking one's vote are those of Fritz McGooshkie, candidate for the most illustrious position of president. Though Fritz' name and excellent qualifications can be found all over our walls, it would be conspicuously absent on any sheet of registered Paul Kane students. My only question is if he will be among the choices on the ballot. Other prospective presidents are: Bruce Billingsley, Jeff Connie and Bruce Sloan. Graduation president candidates are: Cathy Phillips and Beth Stuart. Possible treasurers are: Edward Gullberg or Laurie McKay. Running, for girls' sports rep. are Penny Webber and Jackie Latimer, and for grade 12 rep. are Shelley Ives and Karen Sinclair. Positions filled by acclamation are: secretary - Brenda Charleson, boys' sports rep. - Dave Cushings, grade 11 rep. - Leah Greathead, social convenor - Carol Hutton, and vice pres. - Caryn Duncan. Election speeches were heard by the students today, Monday, and voting will be tomorrow. By the time this is published, the fate (ominous) of those candidates yet to be chosen will be decided.

Paul Kane will be staging its own "Festival of the Arts" the week of June 6 - 10 in the Theatre Arts Room. Works created by the students in art classes throughout the year will be displayed during the day, from 10:30 a.m. - 3 p.m. On Wednesday, June 8, will be the one evening show, from 6 - 10 p.m. From 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. that night there will also be a band concert and a fashion show in the cafeteria.

Admission is free.

Band enthusiasts will also be able to hear the Paul Kane Concert Band in Lions Park at noon, Sunday, June 12.

And... oh yes! We had our grad two weekends ago. I hear the grad dance and banquet were very good, as was Mr. Lindley's speech. As for the aftergrad... well, I asked about it, but no one who went could remember anything!

Concerning Women Of Today's World

St. Albert woman is authority on etiquette

In today's hectic and informal society, the word "etiquette" seems to many to be redolent of stilted Victorianism.

However, to Mrs. Jean Begley, of 3 Grosvenor Blvd., the word refers only to common courtesy in social behavior. And Mrs. Begley is in a position to know. For years she was the doyenne of Irish etiquette, authoring several books and guiding the uncertain through the maze of social conventions that still prevail on that side of the Atlantic.

Mrs. Begley is planning a book on Canadian social customs, but wishes to gain more familiarity with people here before writing it.

One might expect that such an arbiter of etiquette would be slightly forbidding to a casual Canadian. Such is not the case with Mrs. Begley. Visitors to her home are immediately put at ease by her warmth, which brings to life the real meaning of good manners.

Although she has been in this country for only a few months, the vivacious Irish woman, who came here to be near her sons, has not been idle. She lectures in polite and social behavior to the students of two Edmonton modelling agencies, Peggy Adams and Cover Girl. She can be seen on ITV, Channel 13, on Fridays and Sundays, with her program answering questions from viewers confronted with tricky social situations. She will soon be appearing in the Edmonton Journal, with a regular column on the same subject. Mrs. Begley will also make herself available to youth groups in St. Albert, and will talk to them when requested.

Unlike many people who regard the younger generation with resentment and despair, Jean Begley is cheerfully optimistic about today's youth. She feels that despite their exposure at an early age to the hard realities of life, they remain for the most part, a loving and giving generation. She remarks that her frequent dealings with them provide her with daily illustrations of their promise.

Asked what questions she is most frequently asked, Mrs. Begley replied that they usually deal with introductions and nervousness in social situations. She said that nervousness seems to be more of a problem for women, as ignorance of the social graces is tolerated more in men. Nervousness seems to arise out of an inability to maintain a conversation, she added, and a question, such as "Do you agree," added on to a stated opinion, can be used to keep the conversational ball rolling.

In an era when change is the only certainty, courtesy and good manners are often lost in the shuffle. More than ever, society needs people like Jean Begley to remind us of their value.

Who's who honours Eleanor Smoley

A young St. Albert woman has been singled out for recognition in the prestigious publication, "Who's Who."

Eleanor Smoley, manager of the Medical Records department at the University Hospital was approached a year ago by representatives of the VIP catalogue, who wished to enter her name in their edition on American Women. To be considered for the honour, the candidate must be a North American woman who has made outstanding achievement in her field.

Mrs. Smoley was interviewed at length concerning her job and activities in the community, and finally presented with a diploma, certifying her inclusion in the book.

The diploma states: "The Marquis Who's Who Publication Board certifies that Eleanor Smoley is a subject of biographical record in 'Who's Who of American Women, 10th edition, 1977-78, inclusion in which is limited to those who have demonstrated outstanding achievement in their own fields of endeavour, and who have thereby contributed significantly to the betterment of contemporary society."

The Entertainment Scene

Theatre 3 summer series starts with 'La Ronde'

Theatre 3 enters its "Summer Series" of June and July productions with Arthur Schnitzler's hilarious comedy La Ronde, running June 14 through 25. Starring in this bachanal ode to the fine and funny art of seduction is a quartet of Edmonton's finest actors: Susan Andre, Richard Gishler, Judith Mabey, and Michael Murdock. Artistic Director Mark Schoenberg stages La Ronde on a revolving set designed by Terry Gunvordahl. Stage Manager is Randy Maertz.

Written by the Austrian playwright at the turn of the century, La Ronde is a stylish, glittering comedy about men and women surviving a parade of liaisons with dignities, if little else, intact. Class snobberies and sundry other items drop as The Soldier, The Actress, The Poet, The Parlor Maid, and friends climb on this callopie of passions in scenes that are variously charming, randy, touching, and always hilarious.

La Ronde thoroughly scandalized its original audiences, above all for letting its characters transgress class lines. In 1977, it is a sweet aperitif to the sexual revolution, but Theatre 3 recommends it for mature audiences only.

Tickets for La Ronde are now on sale at all Bay Ticket Outlets, or at the Theatre 3 box office at 426-6870. Curtain time is 8 p.m. nightly, Sunday at 2 and 7:30 p.m. There are no performances Mondays.

Theatre 3 is for a limited time offering Edmontonians a special discount on tickets to its June production of La Ronde and the July production of The Collected Works of Billy The Kid. By purchasing tickets to both now, theatregoers will enjoy the two plays at a reduced price. This "Summer Series" package is now available only through the Theatre 3 Box-Office.

Silent classics films at library

The National Film Theatre of Edmonton is presenting a series of Silent Classics on Tuesday and Friday evenings at 8 p.m. in the Central Library Theatre from Friday, June 3 to Friday, June 17.

On Friday, June 3, "The Fantomas," a French film made in 1913 will be shown, and an Australian film, "A Sentimental Bloke," made in 1919. "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," an American movie made in 1923 will be screen on Tuesday, June 7, and on Friday, June 10, "Der Letzte Mann/The Last Laugh," made in Germany in 1924 will be shown. Tuesday, June 14 will see the screening of "La Passion de Jeanne D'Arc/The Passion of Joan of Arc," made in France in 1926-28. The last film will be shown on Friday, June 17, and will be "Octjabre/October (Ten Days That Shook the World)," made in Russia in 1928.

Admission to this series is restricted to persons 18 years of age and over. Series tickets are available at the Audio-Visual Division on the Second Floor of the Central Library, and are $7 for adults and $5 for students and senior citizens.

Ukrainian dance troupe to present 'Folklore'

On Friday, June 10 the Chaban Ukrainian Dance Ensemble of Regina will be at the Jubilee Auditorium to perform the production "Folklore."

Young and old will enjoy the fine quality of dance as it follows a story line based upon the diary of Kozak Bohdan Kampholie.

Chaban combines traditional dance with free expression resulting in a spectacular and exciting display of talent which appeals to a wide audience.

Previous stagings of the production drew tears, shouts and applause from the audience as it followed the story of Bohdan's loves tragedies and adventures.

Unfortunately the Chermose Dancers are not able to perform as guest artists as reported earlier in the Gazette. This fact was not realized until after the issuing of the first press release.

The Chaban Ensemble has put together a package of excellent family entertainment which from all indications should provide an evening of pleasant enjoyment.

Margaret Donnelly, the new children's librarian at the St. Albert Library, captivates several youngsters with her story-telling during Story Hour held in the City Hall Annex.

New children's librarian plans busy summer

Hi! I'm Margaret Donnelly, the new children's librarian at St. Albert Public Library. I would like to invite all the kids in St. Albert to come down and visit me. I learned how to be a librarian at the University of Alberta and I have worked in libraries in Edmonton, Grande Prairie and Spruce Grove.

I went away to Europe for over a year and saw many strange lands and people that I would like to tell you about. Since I came back I have been working in the Yellowhead Region; doing puppet shows and workshops for children from Leduc to Barrhead. Sometime soon I will do a puppet show for you.

The library has a busy summer planned. Look out for us. We'll be in the rodeo parade. You'll be able to enter our poster contest. In July we'll be having story hour. August is the month for Funmaker's Club. Come down to the library this summer. There will be lots happening and plenty of good books to read. See you there!

Barter Theatre - drama under the stars

Alberta Barter Theatre is swinging into action for its sixth season of live theatre under the stars. Three shows are on the boards for this summer. June 15 will see the opening of the season with The Fourposter, a tender comedy by Jan de Hartog. This is to be followed by Veronica's Room, a "chew-up-your-finger-nails" thriller-chiller written by Ira Levin (of Stepford Wives and Rosemary's Baby fame). The season will close with a look at Charles Schulz' friends in You're A Good Man Charlie Brown (with book, music and lyrics by Clark Gesner).

For a relaxed, summer evening's entertainment, come to the Torches Theatre in the courtyard of Corbett Hall on the University of Alberta campus (112 Street and 82 Avenue). Curtain time is 9 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. In the event of rain, performances will move indoors to the comforts of Studio Theatre. Admission remains at $3 for adults and $2 for students (with cards) and senior citizens. Preschoolers are admitted free of charge. For further information please contact the Alberta Barter Theatre office at 426-1274.

Williams - Kozachuk wedding - April 9th

"Who therefore God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."

With this blessing Rev. Ray Leppard of Kirk United Church on April 9, 1977 joined together as man and wife, Mary-Jo Williams, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Williams and Larry Kozachuk, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kozachuk. The church ceremony commenced with the entrance of Mrs. Janet Williams and Mrs. Trudy Kozachuk, being escorted to the altar where they each lit a candle representing the flame of life from both families. After the vows were taken, Mary and Larry carried the candles started by their mothers to light a single candle, representing commencement of their life together.

This very pretty Easter wedding reflected the colors of spring. The mother of the bride wore a Grecian gown of soft mint green, while the mother of the groom complimented her in a gown of pink with matching long coat. Mary-Jo, beautiful and vivacious, was escorted down the aisle by her father. She wore a french designed three tiered floor length gown with bell sleeves of banlon and jersey material with hat to match and semi-cathedral train. The maid of honour, Penny Williams, with bridesmaids Kim Barker, Joan

Larry Kozachuk, the groom, was attended by Jim Hole, Bill Hole, Ian Langridge and Ken Williams Jr. Ushers were Graham Brown and Hector Gervais Jr. The reception held at the Royal Canadian Legion in St. Albert, was well attended by friends and relatives. Hector Gervais, the uncle of the groom excelled as master of ceremonies. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Doug Grams of Saskatoon, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Marko of Beauvallon, Alberta, Sharon Hildahl of Medicine Hat, Val and Victor Jakeman of Montreal, Gladys Robertson of Winnipeg, Mr. and Mrs. John Williams of Saskatoon, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Williams of Yorkton, Sask., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keeler of Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Orchison of Fallis, Alberta, and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Keeler of Calgary. The bride and groom were also very fortunate to have in attendance the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Betty McDonald of Fallis, Alberta and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Mable Gervais of St. Albert.

Following a honeymoon in Hawaii, the newlyweds will be making their home in St. Albert.

NO EXCUSE SUNDAY

To make it possible for everyone to attend church next Sunday we are going to have a special "No Excuse Sunday." Cots will be placed in the foyer for those who say Sunday is my only day to sleep in. Murine will be available for those with tired eyes, from watching TV too late Saturday night. We will have steel helmets for those who say, "The roof would cave in if I ever came to church." Blankets will be furnished for those who think the church is too cold, and fans for those who say it is too hot.

We will have hearing aids for those who say, "The Pastor speaks too softly" and cotton for those who say he preaches too loudly. Score cards will be available for those who wish a list of the hypocrites present. Some relatives will be in attendance for those who like to go visiting on Sunday.

There will be 100 TV dinners for those who cannot go to church and cook dinner too. One section will be devoted to trees and grass for those who like to see God in nature. Finally, the sanctuary will be decorated with both Christmas poinsettias and Easter lilies for those who have never seen the church without them. "Just suppose the Lord would begin tomorrow to make people as sick as they claim to be on Sunday. Just suppose the Lord would take away the child whom the parents use as an excuse for staying away from church."

Some things sound humorous, but they are serious. Couldn't we all make excuses to stay away from church if we really wanted to?

The Maguire's join foster parents plan

Marie-Carme Casseus, a three year old Haitian child, faces a more hopeful future today, thanks to the generosity of a St. Albert couple, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Maguire. The Maguires have joined the Foster Parents Plan, and will contribute to Marie-Carme's family through monthly donations.

The $19 a month provides the family with a monthly cash grant or material benefits; free medical and dental care, free prescriptions, the sustained guidance and counselling of social workers and the benefits of many special programs. All foster children and their brothers and sisters, age permitting, are encouraged to attend school. Where suitable, vocational training courses are made available, free of charge, for foster children, their brothers and sisters, and where practical, their parents. The objective is to provide the family with the tools to help them become independent and self-supporting. All programs are adapted to the needs of each country and laterly tend to be concentrated in rural areas, where the whole community can benefit, particularly through mass inoculations.

Marie-Carme was born at Cap-Rouge and now lives with her family at Jacmel. Her father is a farmer, and she has a younger brother living at home, and a six-year old sister.

The family lives in a thatched roofed shack with no running water. The family income of $13 per month cannot meet their needs, and they have little furniture or household equipment.

Anyone interested in joining the Foster Parents Plan can obtain information by writing to the Public Relations Department, Foster Parents Plan of Canada, 153 St. Clair Avenue West, Toronto, M4V 1P8.

'Saints' new name of Junior 'A' team

St. Albert's entry into the Alberta Junior "A" Hockey League will be officially known as the "Saints."

The name was one of many received from interested hockey fans during the Gazette contest.

Club President Tom White was most pleased with the selection of the "Saints" as it keeps the tradition of Alberta's oldest town, now a city, in the forefront.

Other members of the highly regarded AJHL are the Fort Saskatchewan Traders, Calgary Canucks, Taber Golden Suns, Red Deer Rustlers, Pincher Creek Panthers and the Edmonton Crusaders.

"Saints" will be coached by Doug Messier, a St. Albert resident and formerly the coach with the Spruce Grove Mets, Canadian champions in 1974/75.

Messier is looking forward to the club's first year in St. Albert as he feels many of St. Albert and district players will make the team.

At a recent St. Albert Standard General junior "B" meeting it was decided not to operate the team this season in the Alberta Junior "B" Hockey League due to operating and travelling costs as well as problems trying to compete for junior hockey fans.

Ex-General coach John Ewen has apparently applied for the juvenile travelling "A" team in the Kinsmen Minor Hockey Association for the coming season. Ewen successfully coached the team three seasons ago to the Alberta championships.

Negotiations are now underway with Morinville to operate a Junior "B" team out of that town in co-operation with the Saints. The team would be made up of many local players from within a 30 mile radius. It is hoped that many of the players will be able to move up to the "Saints" for games during the season.

Clair Rankin, a St. Albert resident has been recommended by the "Saints" for the coaching position and it is hoped that Morinville and district residents will be involved in the management.

Rankin has had a successful minor league coaching record in Edmonton and has also coached the Wainwright Bisons in the Alberta Junior "B" League.

The objectives of the "Saints" are (1) to secure St. Albert people in ownership and operation (2) establish a working agreement with the St. Albert Kinsmen Minor Hockey Association (3) to establish a structure to provide opportunities for local boys to play Junior "A" calibre hockey and continue their education while living at home.

The first two of these requirements have been taken care of and with a little luck the third will follow suit.

The AJHL because of its high skill level and competition has made it possible for many players to develop their hockey skills as well as continue their education. In this manner a player can delay his final choice of his future until he has completed his grade 12.

A number of ex-AJHL players have moved up to the two professional leagues and most important, many are attending top U.S. colleges to further their education on scholarships that range in value from $16,000 to $28,000.

John Davidson (St. Louis Blues), Tom Bladon (Philadelphia Flyers), Dave Kryskow (Calgary Cowboys), Brian Ogilvie (St. Louis), Dale Lewis (Los Angeles Kings), Darryl Maggs (Chicago Cougars) are just some of the players to graduate to professional hockey.

Most colleges offering scholarships prefer hockey players with junior "A" Tier 11 experience. They know a player who is successful at this level can also be successful at college.

The "Saints" are negotiating with the Edmonton Exhibition Board to secure practice dates in the Edmonton Gardens so as not to use any St. Albert arena ice except for home games.

The AJHL schedule starts in early October and it is hoped that most of the Saints early games can be played away while waiting for the new arena to open in late November. With the Generals not operating this season no additional ice time should be lost to minor hockey as the Saints will be playing mostly Saturdays and Sundays.

There no doubt will be some ice scheduling problems and the Saints will do everything in their power to reduce them for the benefit of minor league hockey.

Stingers lead Sturgeon fastball league

The surprising and much improved Devon Stingers are in first place in the 14-team Sturgeon Valley Men's Fastball League with a record of six wins and a tie in seven games.

Two other teams are also undefeated in league play. Stony Plain Kings have won six starts and Stony Plain Playboys have won all four of their games.

Devon are vastly improved from last year's team which won only five of 19 games and finished in 11th place in the 12-team league.

The main reason is the overpowering pitching of Brian Monaghan. He struck out 15 St. Albert Juniors in a 15-2 five-inning win last Friday.

Monaghan is also getting some help defensively from his team-mates which was lacking last season.

All three St. Albert teams are in the top eight positions (playoff spots) with St. Albert Nu-West A's in fourth position with only one loss in five starts.

Monday night the A's, behind the strong pitching of Dick Bird, with 11 strikeouts, and a seventh inning two-run homer by Brian Funnell defeated Calahoo Chiefs 3-2. Chiefs led 2-0 on a two run blast by Gary Acheson going into the last inning.

LBH Builders had early inning problems with the Juniors as they were behind 2-1 going into the sixth inning. All hell broke loose then as the Builders came up with six hits and eight runs to win 9-2.

The win moved LBH into seventh place with a record of three wins and four losses, the same as the Juniors.

Tonight's games have St. Albert A's at home to Total Sound while the Juniors will be in Stony Plain to play the Kings and LBH will be in Spruce Grove against the Panthers.

All St. Albert games will be played at the new Meadowview diamonds (two) on the north side of the Sturgeon River directly west of the wooden tressle.

Amateur sports

IN FASTBALL - The second annual Handy Andy fastball tournament at Athabasca is set for June 11 and 12. A total of 10 teams (fourth division and down) will compete in the modified double-knockout tourney. Entry fee is $50. A total of 32 men's and eight women's teams will take part in the ninth annual Spruce Grove tournament scheduled for June 18 and 19. Entry fee is $100. For further information call Henry Singer at 962-2252

IN BASEBALL - The Alberta Baseball Association is adding a category for players 35 years and over this season. For further information phone the association at 458-5440.

Senior baseball team has wobbly start

St. Albert's senior baseball team is having early season problems in the five-team Sunburst Baseball League as they have dropped their first two league games.

Edmonton Cardinals scored five runs in the first inning May 24 and went on to defeat St. Albert 12-5 in their opening game in St. Albert.

Almac Steelers took their home opener with a 8-5 win over St. Albert last Thursday.

Coach Ed Howorko feels St. Albert has the talent to win in this league and it's just going to be a matter of time before the club starts to play heads up ball.

St. Albert was to have played the Steelers last night in St. Albert but no score was available at press time.

Blue Willow Jrs. will be here tonight to play St. Albert with the game time at 6:30 p.m.

The next two St. Albert games will be away as they will play Blue Willow in Renfrew Park, June 7 and Blue Willow June 9 at South

Industrial Park. Fort Saskatchewan will make their first appearance here June 14.

Tennis tournament

The annual St. Albert open tennis tournament will take place this weekend at the Mission Park and Akinsdale courts and a record entry is expected to take part.

Play will begin at both sides on Friday evening in Mens singles with the Doubles events and the Ladies Singles getting underway at 9 a.m. on Saturday. Entries have been received from most clubs in the Edmonton area and a strong contingent will be representing the host club in all events.

Semi-final and final matches in primary events will take place at the Mission courts on Sunday from approximately noon until 4 p.m. and spectators are invited to take in the high calibre of tennis.

Comets hockey club organizational meeting

The St. Albert Comets Senior hockey club is holding an organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, June 2 at 33 Fenwick Crescent. Anyone interested in joining the organization is welcome to attend.

More information may be obtained by phoning Claude at 459-8651.

St. Albert Saints senior baseball team began their 1977 Sunburst Baseball League play last week with a pair of entertaining games against the Edmonton Cardinals and the Almac Steelers. St. Albert lost both contests but have enough talent to do well in the league.

St. Albert Juniors won their third game in a row in Sturgeon Men's fastball league action with a 12-3 win over Alexander Braves Thursday night at the new Meadowview fastball diamonds. Matt Lister is getting set to hit a double against the Braves.

Hercules Girls Fastball

The girls' fastball season has been plagued with rain in the past few weeks with only a few games escaping the moisture. Some games were attempted, only to be deluged and washed away. With outdoor education classes at school plus various other absenteeism, the coaches are desperately hoping to make up numerous games before Rainmaker weekend arrives.

Over 250 contestants will be competing in the 10 different events, which are highlighted by Chuckwagon Races, for which there is a purse of $3,000 each night.

The ladies will be there for the barrel racing, as well, there will be a junior barrel race. There will be the bronc busting, both saddle and bareback and of course steer wrestling and calf roping. A special event which is always a sight to see is the wild cow milking with many thrills and spills.

The Enoch Rodeo Grounds are west of Edmonton on Devon Highway #60, four miles south of Highway 16 west. Action starts at 2 p.m.

Bantam division soccer needs fan support

Organizers of the bantam house league soccer teams are disappointed in the lack of parent support for the 60 boys, aged 12 - 16, who are involved in the league. To date the games have averaged about 10 parent-spectators per game and these are usually the same people. All games are played Monday or Wednesday evenings starting at 7:30 p.m. at Lorne Akins east or west. The cheering really helps the boys get into and enjoy the game so get out and watch your son play the game.

For more information on the bantam division phone Dieter Knobloch league director 459-6597.

Canada to host 'Habitat and energy' conference

Energy has become a key element in planning and developing communities as well as in the design, construction and maintenance of the buildings. For this reason Canada proposed a Habitat and Energy seminar as a logical follow-up to the Habitat, the U.N. Conference on Human Settlements held in Vancouver last year.

Europe as well as North America will meet in Ottawa October 3 - 14 of this year to discuss the increasingly important role played by energy in human settlements planning.

Canada is preparing the theme paper for the seminar dealing with present and future likely developments in human settlements planning and energy and including such aspects as form, urban densities, transportation and environmental impact. The paper will also examine how planning and building components can be made more energy efficient.

The seminar is sponsored by the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe.

FLOAT FISHING

Float fishermen are innovators. They have to be in order to catch any fish.

Unlike lake anglers, the river fisherman is seldom in one spot long enough to work out a pattern and lure that is best for that particular place.

So he experiments until the lucky combination of method and lure is discovered.

One of the most successful types of lures used by float fishermen seeking bass and panfish is the spinner.

And while the usual weighted spinning lures work fine, the angling experts at Mercury outboards have found that a bucktail fly and spinner combo, similar to that used by flycasters, is a deadly lure for stream fishing.

The spinner/bucktail can be adapted to spinning and spin-casting tackle.

The trick is to make the lure heavy enough to cast accurately, and also to descend in the water deep enough to tempt fish from beneath logs and rocks.

The current, and the speed of your boat floating downstream, play a part in how quickly the lure reaches the fish.

Again borrowing from the flyfisherman, you can add a strip of lead wire to the shaft of the spinner to increase the weight of the lure. Be careful to wind it on so that it will not impede the revolving blade.

If lead wire isn't handy, small split-shot can be substituted, although it must be pinched on the line ahead of the spinner.

A large, full-bodied bucktail fly is attached behind the spinner. Brown, black or grey with a touch of red showing are excellent colors.

Size depends upon whether you're after bass or panfish.

Jeers, cheers & tears for St. Albert Minor Baseball on cable

The firing line call-in show at 9 tonight! tonight

As Told by Uncle Rick
Well, the season is half over and we're sure there are many people - coaches, parents, players who might like to speak their peace. The opportunity is presented tonight on the Sport Scene -

Cable 5 - as the phone lines will be opened to your comments, questions, gripes ... and heavens knows "what all" to the baseball season thus far.

Here are some ideas worthy of discussion ... Are there any stacked teams in any division, if so, which one or two? What about playoffs ... do you need it clarified? Do you like games on Victoria Day? Should cleats be allowed in house league bantam ball? In case of make-up games, can coaches agree to play them as four point ball games? Do you like the idea of short double-headers as a way to make up games? Have you had enough rain? Should we except late registrations now? Are umpires taking a beating from coaches? Are you satisfied with the house league rules? Should we extend the baseball season on a modified basis for the summer? Okay, the rest is up to you. Our phone number for the "Firing Line" Call-in at Cable 5 is 458-2702. You'll be able to hear the conversation and please don't identify yourself. If we have no answers ready, we'll tell you - and try to look up the problem. Maybe we'll be sorry we tried it, but nothing ventured is nothing gained. If it is successful - maybe we can do it again. Anyway, join us at nine tonight on Cable Five.

In case you can't stand call-in programs - maybe you'll enjoy film clips we took Monday night on diamond nine of a rather entertaining T-Ball game...in addition to the midget baseball shots also taken Monday night in that beautiful weather.

We spent so much time gathering scores late Monday night we weren't able to give them their just due. The standings in all divisions should be fairly accurate up to way past midnight Monday, May 30, 1977 ... and now the standings and the scores:

St. Albert Willowbrook Saints midget nine was a dandy for pitcher Ken Young. Ken managed to strike out 17 batters from "the Grove" with a neat variety of pitches, including his favorite knuckle ball. For the season Ben Tooth-Frank Galbraith - coached Saints have five wins against one loss. Tonight they travel to Fort Saskatchewan for a 7 p.m. conflict. Portions of Monday's game will be shown on Cable 5 tonight during the Call-in "Firing Line" program at 9 p.m.

ELSEWHERE...
Just in case you missed our "rap" session with Orv Franchuk on Cable 5 regarding his soon-to-be baseball camp at Renfrew Park ... here are the highlights so all our coaches, players and parents can mull the situation over...
Session #1 begins on July 4 and runs until July 8; Session #2 begins on July 11 and runs until July 15; Session #3 will be held on July 18, 19, 22, 25 and 26 for juniors only. Juniors are players 8 to 13 ... seniors are 14 years and up.

Seniors practice from 9 a.m. to 12 noon while Juniors practice from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. There are special hours for the juniors-only third session, morning and afternoon. The fee is $20 per session. Players will receive 15 hours of instruction - a tourney pass to the second annual Edmonton International Baseball tournament - and when its all over you'll get a diploma. If you wish a camp T-shirt - navy and orange lettering you pay an additional $3 ... application forms will be available Saturday at the Sportshop in St. Albert.

Oh yes, Orv also said there would be a game each day stressing sound baseball fundamentals.

The St. Albert Minor Baseball Association has just received an invite to enter three teams in the upcoming Edmonton Minor League baseball tourney to be staged at Rosslyn complex during the weekend of June 11 and 12. No doubt we will field able representatives in all three categories, mosquito .. beaver and bantam. The St. Albert midgets are engaged in a tournament this coming weekend, we understand.

Playoffs for the A and B division will start next Monday with a double round robin for the "A's" and a single round robin for the "B's". We hear that trophies will be awarded to both divisions. This is something new this year and sounds very interesting.

Too bad the weatherman sent the rain last weekend ... five games, in all three divisions, were washed down the drain. Which way is best? Safeway Seals and Nu West finally tangled in a mosquito (A) division double-header last Monday. Seals won both 22-8 and 12-6 for a four-point win. Last week in beaver division play Neil's Trailer Kings knocked over the Grandin Mets 35-12 in one game (played for two) and received four points ... maybe you can let us know on Cable Five tonight?

There's lots more to say, but it's getting late ... and - as the old saying goes - the bases maybe full of water but "Diamonds are a boy's best friend."

Beaver colonies hold banquet

Friday evening 65 boys and their parents gathered at the St. Albert Community Hall for the first of what is hoped to be an annual banquet wrapping up a season of Beaver and Cub activities. After dinner, which included seconds and thirds of ice cream, the boys were held in awe by the deft hands and tricks of a magician.

At 9 p.m. the tables were cleared away, the boys driven home, and the parents totalling 50 - 60 couples danced to the music of Steve Anthony until 1:30 a.m.

The group, the Second St. Albert Mission and Lac-ombe, reports a good time had by all.

Leader Graham Gayle would like to announce the formation of a Scout troop for the 1977-78 season. Anyone from the area interested in joining should watch for a registration announcement sometime in September.

At present the Second involves about 100 boys in two Beaver Colonies and two Cub Packs.

Friends honour Lancasters at farewell party

A group of longtime friends of Leo and Marg Lancaster and their family gathered at the home of Harold and Jean Lewis on Saturday for a farewell party honouring the popular couple. Leo has been transferred to Regina as chief labour consultant for Saskatchewan hospitals. He has been employed in labour consulting for the Alberta government. Mr. Lancaster begins work in Regina next Monday and the family have found a large home about 10 blocks from the legislative buildings which they are particularly pleased with. Marg and five of their nine children, together with Leo's mother, Nora, will be moving at the end of June. Chris, Mike, Mary, Elizabeth and Barbara will be going to Regina. Joe is going into the air force. Cathy and John are in university and Pat will stay to finish his grade 12 next year in St. Albert High.

What was to have been a garden party turned into a garage party in view of the torrents of rain, and very cozy and pleasant it was, as many old friends enjoyed a good visit and recalled earlier days in St. Albert.

Following a delicious supper Ernie Jamison was asked to make a presentation of wallets to Leo and Marg who have made their home in St. Albert for over 16 years. He said the Lancasters have been a popular family in the community, participating in many events and activities, including the Pitch and Spice. Not only would their many friends miss them, said Ernie, but also the City and Safeway store. Safeway would lose a large grocery order each week and in the case of the city grants on a per capita basis would be affected. He thought the family would make new friends in Regina, Leo and Marg being friendly people, and with the children who would also be meeting new people, and he alerted Leo when he got ready to help his neighbour with the lawn mowing to remember to put the grass bag on his machine. (A reference to a Lancaster neighbour who had a large window broken last season).

Ernie also called on Harold Lewis, Johnny Johnson and Marg Davis to say a few words. Leo and Marg both thanked their friends with warmth and sincerity and Marg invited all to come and visit them in their new home - "anytime - everytime you're in the vicinity."

The Lancaster children were included in the festivities and everyone present had a grand time. It was evident on all sides that the Lancasters will be greatly missed, and that they take with them the good wishes of all who know them.

Summer Cooling?

If you're contemplating summer cooling, we offer these helpful hints.

In summer, the hottest part of your home is the attic. One of the most economical and efficient ways to cool your entire home is by removing heated air with an automatic attic ventilator. In Alberta, it may be all you really need for summer comfort.

Generally, a fan system costs less to install and operate than an air conditioner. However, a fan system does not cool as effectively as an air conditioner nor does it filter the air.

Visit to Redwater involves Cadets in war game

AIR CADETS IN REVIEW
#533 R.C. [AIR] C. SQN.
ST. ALBERT

By Cpl. Mike Parkin

First of all, I think that I should apologize for not submitting a column last week, but I believe that I caught some sort of 72-hour malady. It lasted for the duration of the weekend and I understand that it strikes anyone and everyone, regardless of age, inviting them to waterski, canoe and do all kinds of summer-type things. Anyway, I sure hope that I can acquire that malady more often, it resulted in a very enjoyable long weekend.

Now, to get down to business. Last Thursday evening, May 26, the squadron was visited by two officers from the Edmonton Militia district, who instructed in the same basic map reading skills and also gave a brief run-down of what we were going to do at Redwater on Saturday, May 28. The squadron drill teams also were practicing hard for their upcoming Provincial Drill competitions, on Saturday, June 4.

On Saturday, May 28, at the horribly early hour of 7:30 a.m., in the rain, our squadron assembled at the community hall, in preparation for a trip to Redwater. We departed the community hall at 8:30 a.m., travelling in five 2½ ton trucks furnished by the service battalion. We arrived at Redwater training area at 9:45 a.m., and were dispatched into our training groups. We received orientation on one tons, 1½ ton signals (radio) vans and 2½ ton transport vehicles. After vehicle orientation, we proceeded to orienteering and map reading practice, by following our route to the training area and taking bearings on several objects in the immediate areas. The next item on the agenda was a brief description of the purpose of the signals (communications) regiments in the militia.

Lunch was served to everyone to general approval, and consumed in the trucks. After lunch, a war game was organized, in which the offensive team was to capture the defensive team's nuclear bomb. The defense hid their nuclear bomb under a spruce tree, where the offensive team passed by it several times, although leaving the "nuclear bomb" undisturbed.

Much to the disapproval of the entire squadron, we left the Redwater training area shortly after the war game ended.

We arrived home at the community hall about 3:15, wet and tired, although we had a lot of fun.

On Wednesday, June 1, the squadron will hold its annual Parent-Cadet banquet and awards presentations, at the St. Albert Inn. More information on this function will be available next week.

Upcoming events include Provincial Sports/Drill competitions on June 4 and 5, Camp Wright weekend June 10-12, the squadron sports night June 16 and summer camps.

It looks as if 533 squadron is going to finish the 1977 training year off very busily.

Sturgeon Cabs answer the call for long waiting customers

You probably have noticed the yellow 1977 Dodge Aspen owned by Gerry Bradley's Sturgeon Cab Company running around town, well these cars will be cutting the time that a customer has to wait for a cab in St. Albert. Gerry is working his company in close co-operation with his brother Rodger's, Brad's Cabs, and together they have set out to create a five to 10 minute wait for a car. Gerry told the Gazette that they have a little bit of a problem sticking to this proposal on the weekends, but they are working on it.

At the present time, both cab companies have a combined total of six cars on the street at any given time. This winter that number will be bolstered by another two or four cabs.

Gerry has been a resident of St. Albert for the past 21 years, and that's a long time in one spot, for a man who is only 22. He became involved in the taxi business, back when his stepfather Glen ran St. Albert Cabs. Gerry used to do a fair amount of dispatching when he was only 12 years old. He was married just a couple of months ago and is residing in Edmonton, but is hoping to find a place in St. Albert soon. Just prior to starting up Sturgeon Cabs, Gerry was employed by Paul's Holding Company, where he was involved in managing Premier Esso.

Gerry invites you to ride in comfort with Sturgeon Cabs, which maintains clean, courteous, fast service every time.

Talking about steaks

Consumers spend approximately 2 - 2.7% of their disposable income on beef. We, Albertans, have developed quite a taste for steak. It is one of the easiest ways to merchandize beef in the West, not only during barbecue season, but all year round. A steak is simply a thin cut of beef. It can vary in tenderness depending on the area of the carcass from which it was taken. Thus, all steaks are not suitable for broiling or barbecuing. Some must be braised, marinated, or treated by some other method before they become tender.

THE FAVOURED FEW

The more recognized steaks, ribs, club, porterhouse, T-bone, and sirloin come from the rib and full loin areas which make up only 20% of a side of beef. Because of the great demand for these steaks and the limited number of them in a side, prices are generally higher.

CUT TO SELL

Retailers adjust cutting patterns with the seasons. During the summer, most of the carcass is cut into steaks because they are a popular item for the barbecue season.

The sirloin tip, rib and chuck sections are usually cut into steaks for summer merchandizing and are often sold as roasts over winter months.

CHUCK

The blade steak, chuck steak and cross-rib (Cowboy or Western) steaks all come from the CHUCK section of the carcass. These steaks are less tender cuts, and before broiling or barbecuing, they should be tenderized - otherwise, they should be braised.

RIB

The rib steak and the rib-eye (Delmonico or Spencer) steak come from the RIB section of the carcass. These steaks are well marbled and so quite flavorful. They are also quite tender and can be broiled or barbecued.

Around Town

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wallace of Namao would like to announce that their son, David James joined the regular Forces in Cornwallis, Nova Scotia on May 13, 1977.

FULL LOIN

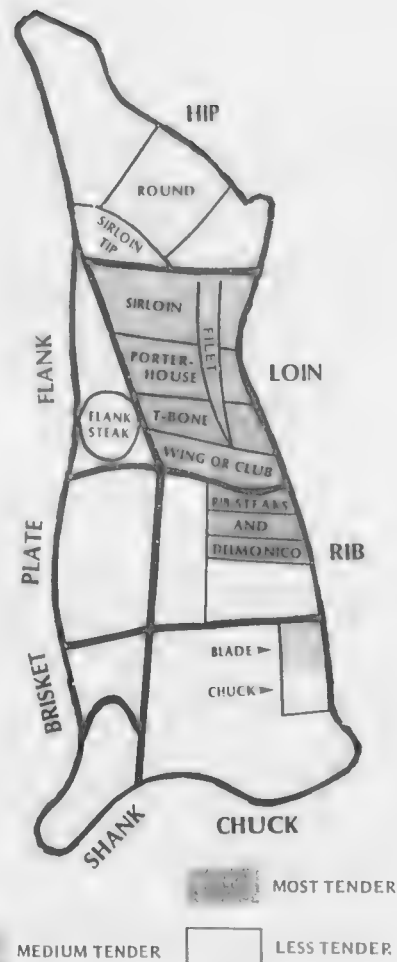

The FULL LOIN is the major steak section of the beef carcass. It yields club (or wing), T-bone, porterhouse and sirloin steaks. The porterhouse steak has a large piece of meat below the rib bone. This piece of meat or muscle is the tenderloin. Some stores will separate the tenderloin piece from the top part of the porterhouse steak, and sell it as a filet mignon steak.

The tenderloin piece gives the most tender steak in the entire carcass and is usually priced proportionately.

ROUND

The round steak and the sirloin tip steak are cut from the HIP section of the carcass. The round steak can be divided into the top round steak, the bottom round (or Breakfast steak) and the eye of round steak. Of these, the top round steak is the most tender. In general both round and sirloin tip are medium tender steaks and should be marinated before broiling or barbecuing.

Further information is available in "A Tender Look at Steak," a pamphlet containing pictures, and descriptions and recipes which is free of charge to individuals upon request from the Alberta Cattle Commission, 209, 118 - 11 Avenue S.E., Calgary, Alberta T2G 0X5.

'Take a chance' option riles McCaffery

Should students "take a chance" and choose their options by the fickle finger of fate?

District 6 trustee Shirley McCaffery thinks not, and expressed that opinion at Wednesday night's board meeting.

Mrs. McCaffery, in the midst of perusing a list of options and course descriptions available at Lorne Akins Junior High School, came across the following item:

"TAKE A CHANCE"

Are you a gambler? If so, then here is the option for you. For one of the most interesting and exciting options ever, sign up now. You won't regret it. TAKE A CHANCE and see what this option is all about.

Mrs. McCaffery noted that the back of the option sheet admonished students to choose their options with care, and said she felt that the "Take a Chance" option was not in keeping with this advice. She commented that students who take this option are obligating themselves for six months' study of an unknown subject.

District Superintendent Elmer Gish said that he had been unaware of such a course description, but that he would look into the matter.

Board Briefs

At their regular meeting on Wednesday, May 25, at the board office on Sir Winston Churchill Avenue, trustees of school district 6 attended to the following items of business:

Chairman Bill Webber moved that $100 be forwarded to The Canadian School Trustees Association for their research and development program. Before providing additional funds, the board will evaluate the initial work done. The motion carried.

A request for leave of absence was referred to committee of the whole, as was discussion of procedure for transfer and selection of administrative personnel.

It was decided that representatives from the Ronald Harvey Playground Society would make a presentation to the board at the next regular meeting, June 15, to report on the progress and objectives of the creative playground project.

Hospital board accepts proposed contract with CNA's

Wednesday, May 25, the Sturgeon Hospital Board unanimously moved to accept the Conciliation Commissioner's report on a proposed new contract with the Alberta Certified Nursing Aids Association.

The contract, if accepted by the CNA's, calls for a 5 1/2% across the board salary increase, a vacation of 20 working days after five years service (present contract requires eight years), an increase in overtime payment to double time for hours beyond the first four hours of overtime work instead of straight time and one-half.

Board member John de Bruijn, in recommending acceptance, pointed out that the contract was in line with similar contracts throughout the area. If the ACNA accepts the contract as is, it will be authorized by the Board at its June meeting.

Members of the Sturgeon Toastmistress Club will be attending the Regional Conference for Toastmistress Clubs being held at the Macdonald Hotel, June 3, 4 and 5.

Delegates will be present from Saskatchewan, Alberta, North Dakota and Montana. The winner of the speech contest to be held Saturday evening will represent this region at the International Conference being held in Washington D.C. in July.

Workshops to be held will include "Use Your Try-Angle" on June 3, "Poise Without Pills," on June 4 and "Passport to Possibilities" on June 4. On June 5, "L.S.D. Revised 1977," and "Program Planning" are the topics to be discussed in the workshop forums.

Water Safety Week - June 5 - 11

The Red Cross has designated the week of June 5 - 11 as Red Cross Water Safety Week this year. At the beginning of the swimming season the Red Cross finds it of vital concern that water sports be enjoyed with safety this summer and suggests several courses which may be taken to ensure risks are minimized when you take to the water.

Swimming instruction for all levels of competence are offered as well as boating and survival programs.

Swimming is an excellent way of exercising the whole body and smoothing unwanted bulges which appear after a winter of inactivity. Before you head to the lake this summer give the Red Cross a call and find out what programs are available to suit your particular needs.

ASMARA, 'The Dark One', the belly dancer who made headlines on an Edmonton visit when City aldermen were impressed enough to hire her for the Albert Urban Municipalities Convention way back in October 1969, is now appearing at Tita's Italian Restaurant 10032-105 Street, Edmonton. She'll be doing her artistic twists and turns there till June 25. Phone 422-8641 for more details on show times.

VACATIONING AT HOME

A home vacation is not the time to tackle those "back-breaking" house projects. Don't try to be the "He-man," get help with heavy loads. When you're using ladders see that they are in good condition and use them properly - don't be a fall guy.

Be sure electric-power tools have ground wires attached or are double insulated to avoid electric shock. Keep guards in place when using work-shop tools and wear safety eye glasses to prevent injury. Always refuel gasoline-powered tools outdoors, and remember, NO SMOKING. Keep children out of area where power equipment is being operated.

Happy vacations begin with careful preparations. Don't try to squeeze the last drop of fun out of each day. Plan your time to relax. Set an easy pace and really enjoy being alive.

New books at The St. Albert Library

By Margrit McCreath
Canadians in Russia, 1918 - 1919 by Roy MacLaren. Using recently available source material and interviews with participants in the Russian conflict, the author examines the Canadian involvement in terms of its military, economic, and diplomatic ramifications.

Days and Nights in Calcutta by Clark Blaise and Bharati Mukherjee. This is a candid look at India, written before the new censorship laws, and told from two very different points of view. The reader experiences the contrasting Western and native cultures that are at the core of Calcutta life, high society side by side with the ancient, unchanged spectacle of raw endurance.

From a Bare Hull by Ferenc Mate. Finally - a book that contains all the vital information one should know before buying, building or refinishing a boat. Naval architects, boating magazine editors, and other experts agree that this is the best book published to date on the technical aspects of sailboats.

Powertown: Democracy Discarded by Doris Shackleton. The shift in emphasis in government dealings with the electorate over the past eight years is chronicled: the unprecedented expansion of the Privy Council Office, the increasingly partisan character of the formerly non-partisan civil service, the distressing and excessive secrecy in which even minor government dealings are being cloaked during the regime of Pierre Trudeau.

Ring Around the Moon by Edith Fowke. A follow-up to Sally Go Round the Sun designed for slightly older children between the ages of six and 11. It is full of riddles, rounds, tongue twisters, animal songs, endless songs, charms, omens, answer-back songs and verses about love and marriage.

Trading for Millady's Furs: In the Service of the Hudson's Bay Co. 1923-1943 by Jack Milne. Here is an account of life in the Canadian North as experienced by a young Scot who embarked, at the age of 20, on a career with the company having the alluring name of The Governor and Company of Adventures of England Trading into Hudson's Bay.

A Very Double Life: The Private World of Mackenzie King by C. P. Stacey. At the age of 23 King wrote in his diary, "There is no doubt I led a very double life." One was the very practical world of politics and public affairs. The other was his private world, populated by his family - especially his mother - his innumerable women friends, his dogs, and in his later years by the spirits of the departed.

Wildflowers of Alberta by R. G. H. Cormack. This comprehensive and reliable guide contains descriptions of 400 of the most familiar and popular flowering plants found in Alberta. Included in the identification guides are complete descriptions of the plant itself, its flowering stage and fruit-bearing stage, its habitat and distribution, and a brief text that is a happy combination of facts and general information which will further help to identify a flower. Full colour photographs are never more than a turn of the page from the description.

HOUSE CHECK BEFORE LEAVING

Stop deliveries (mail, milk, papers, etc). Ask your neighbours to remove advertisements, flyers etc. that land on your doorstep. Be sure all heating units are "OFF" and unplug all electrical appliances. Make sure all the doors and windows are locked. It's a good idea to ask the police to keep an eye on the house while you're away.

German language, culture, taught at city school

For parents seeking a basic education in German language and culture for themselves or their children, the German Language School Edelweiss may have the answer.

The school was founded nine years ago, and is sponsored by the German Canadian Association of Alberta. The first classes were held at the Edelweiss-Club, but when the school expanded, it was moved to Sacred Heart Community School in Edmonton.

The school offers language classes to all ages, from kindergarten to adult groups. The classes are held each Tuesday evening from 6:30 - 9 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Community School, 9624 - 108 Ave. For information phone 488-4336, after 6 p.m.

The school is open to all levels of German: beginners, intermediate and advanced. The classes are approved by the Department of Education and offer high school credits up to German 30 in the advanced classes. A course in conversational German is offered to interested adults in the Language Lab of the school.

All courses are taught by qualified teachers with Alberta Teachers Certificates and degrees in education. These teachers are all of German or Austrian descent, and they are mostly first generations Canadians with excellent knowledge of the German language. Since they are still keeping ties with Germany, they are capable of making the language come alive for their students. One of their objectives is to create an interest in learning the language as a very strong factor in keeping the rich middle European culture alive. This is very valuable for second and third generation Canadians of German origin and for people who are interested in travelling or studying in Germany. It is important to keep young students motivated, and the teachers use various materials like films, slides, records and their own resources to achieve this goal.

These classes are probably the best chance for anyone interested to obtain a very basic and workable knowledge of the German language and culture. The fee for a 10 month course is $45 including book rentals, for the first and second person, the rest of the family is free.

Registration will take place at the Sacred Heart School, 9624 - 108 Avenue on September 6, 1977 at 6:30 p.m.

Conversational adult groups will be working on a semester basis, September to January and February to June. The fee for these courses will be $25 each.

Morinville woman appointed to provincial committee

Yvonne Vranas of Morinville has been appointed to the Occupational Health and

YVONNE VRANAS

Safety Council, a 12-member advisory council to the Minister of Labour.

The council comprises a broad cross section of people representing diverse backgrounds, who will make recommendations on general work life in Alberta from the health and safety point of view. They will represent industry, labour, universities, the public service, and are charged with the responsibility of advising the government what should be done in specific areas.

"For example," said Bob Gillies, secretary of the council, "they might look at stress, which could be an occupational problem and one that could lead to medical problems. They could request additional information or more research into the problem. After their study was complete and a consensus reached the council would recommend certain action to the government."

A committee from the council will also be struck which will hear appeals to decisions on safety inspectors by employers, and all members of council could sit in on these hearings if they wished.

Mrs. Vranas, who works in partnership with her husband George in their farm equipment dealership in Morinville, will be able to use her background and experience particularly in the area of farm safety.

Presently the newly-formed council is meeting about once a month.

Manor Estates in full swing

The development of the Manor Estates on river lots 40 and 63 near the Sturgeon River is apparently going full swing.

According to an official of the MD of Sturgeon about 200 residences will have been built at the height of the development.

The MD official added that title cannot be given to the development "till everything is complete."

Residences have their own community water and sewer systems, along with lights and roads.

HALLELUJAH! AN END TO MORINVILLE'S SEWAGE PROBLEM

"The only thing I can say right now is Hallelujah."

Those genuinely joyful words came from Morinville Mayor Art Stapleton this week as he celebrated the approval for the location of Morinville's long awaited sewer facility about a mile east of the town on Secondary Highway 642.

The immediate cause for the mayor's rejoicing was that the sewer lagoon had got over a major hurdle in the form of a public hearing last Thursday night in Morinville.

By the time of going to press the sewer lagoon bylaw will have had its second and final reading at Morinville council and likely there will not have to be a public vote on it.

The complete package will cost $2.3 million and the facility is Morinville's answer, in a manner of speaking, to the frustrations of trying to relieve Morinville's sewage problem by way of pipeline to St. Albert.

The Morinville taxpayer will have to spend the next 25 years paying off $1.2 million of the lagoon's costs; however the pay-off should come as the population of Morinville grows. The present population of Morinville is 2,000 but once the sewer lagoon is fully operational it will cater for the needs of another 6,000 people.

So at long last everything seems to be clearing in the Morinville sewer saga. Tenders for the new lagoon should be called by mid June and Mayor Stapleton says that the facility could be on stream by mid-October or November 1 this year.

By the time the lagoon is busy with its once a year emptying into the Manawan Canal, the provincial government will likely have made up its mind about going regional with sewer and water utilities.

The actual construction of the lagoon will probably get underway by mid-July according to Mayor Stapleton.

He says "It looks as though we got out of square one," but points out that he won't really be celebrating till he sees the shovel digging.

Public hearing at Morinville

Sewage lagoons always a stinky problem

How do you make something that is unpopular popular?

That was the problem faced by the MD of Sturgeon last Thursday night when they threw open discussion on a proposed sewage treatment facility at a public hearing in Morinville.

About 30 people were on hand at the hearing.

An innocent statement and the humorous comment it drew just about summed up the tone of the meeting.

Looking at a chalk drawing of the sewage facility plan a resident said, "I see you have a couple of arrows going east; I'd like to see you erase them."

"Maybe the whole thing!" joked another Sturgeon resident.

Joking apart, the proposed sewage treatment facility is necessary to cater for the growing town of Morinville now at the 2000 population mark.

The facility is supposedly only temporary. For the moment there are too many obstacles in the way of getting a pipeline built from Morinville to St. Albert. That point surfaced quite clearly at the end of the hearing with the suggestion that possible changes at St. Albert city hall in the October election might improve the prospects for pushing through a sewer line.

The proposed sewer treatment facility would be located one mile east of Morinville on Secondary Highway 642 taking out 110 acres from a quarter section.

It would be located a minimum 1,000 feet from any property line.

Obviously, several letters from area residents pointed out that the lagoon is undesirable from their point of view. They say it could interfere with crops, cause water seepage, spoil drinking water and destroy underground water sources.

There are also objections to the destruction of prime agricultural land by the system. The facility will discharge once yearly into the Manawan Canal. That canal was recently deepened by three feet to improve drainage in the locality.

Letters also gave evidence Please Turn to Page 38

MD-St. Albert fire agreement still on ice

The MD of Sturgeon is still playing it quiet on whether or not it will retain its fire agreement with the City of St. Albert.

St. Albert wants the MD to cough up $338,198 if Sturgeon wishes protection from St. Albert fire fighting units in Calahoo, 50th Street, and St. Albert's northwest industrial area.

If the MD decided not to go along with the agreement, its truck could be pulled out of the St. Albert fire hall by July 1.

A special committee of MD officials is looking at alternatives for fire protection if the agreement fails through; the committee will likely be reporting to the MD at its next regular meeting June 16 and 17.

Morinville will have better fire protection

Morinville could be looking at better fire protection following first reading of a 10 inch watermain bylaw at town council last week.

The watermain would come down Grandin Avenue from the railroad tracks and will eventually link up with a new reservoir under construction west of the graveyard.

The main, as well as acting as a general water supply line, will give Morinville better protection in case of fire, says town administrator Paul Brochu.

One of the main parts of Morinville to benefit from better fire protection will be main street.

Mr. Brochu pointed out that when the new town reservoir is ready sometime in July, the town's water capacity will zoom up from 70,000 to half a million gallons.

of fear that property values would go down if the facility was built.

One resident did not want another Red Deer where he said residents were very unhappy with odours from a lagoon and feedlots.

Reeve of the MD Bill Flynn said that Department of the Environment tests have shown there is protection from seepage into ground water (if the facility goes ahead).

A resident wanted to know how clean water in the lagoon would be after it had been there for a year.

"It's supposed to be good enough to drink," said Reeve Flynn, but he added he wasn't sure till prompted that the water would be 90 percent safe.

The reeve also assured the hearing that the facility would not raise the water table, or else the MD would be in a lot of trouble if local basements near the lagoon were flooded out.

Representing Associated Engineers, Peter Bailey pointed out aerobic cells would cause sewage regeneration, resulting in the lessening of any odour.

And Alberta Environment standards would prevent ground water contamination.

Mr. Bailey also added that with cut-off ditches there was no way that ground water (flow) would increase.

Reeve Flynn said the Department of the Environment would keep tag on odours at the lagoon with a monitoring system.

After the public hearing, MD officials approved the location of the lagoon.

Reeve of the MD Bill Flynn says the lagoon could be completed by late summer but construction and operational agreements still have to be worked out with Morinville.

Morinville is expected to have a 90 percent share in the lagoon.

The main purpose for the lagoon is to take care of Morinville's immediate sewage disposal needs till a line can be constructed from Morinville to tie in with the St. Albert line.

Women a necessity to emergency service

By N. Mansfield

At one time there was disbelief that women would ever make the grade in the demanding field of emergency care. Through necessity, and I suppose a natural protective instinct, women make up the majority of volunteers in the Bon Accord-Gibbons and Morinville volunteer rescue squads.

The use of the 'weaker sex' in the emergency medical services is not new or peculiar to this part of the world. Ms. S. H. English, a registered Emergency Medical Technician (E.M.T.) with the Allegheny County Rescue service in Murrsville, Pennsylvania, U.S.A. had a few things to say on this subject:

Women, haarrumph . . . who needs them? Emergency Medical Services, that's who. You'd be surprised how many times the women of the community have stopped whatever they are doing and gone on an ambulance call. In our corp we man two ambulances, each with a crew of three for a population of 14,500. They are manned by women for the most part. The women usually take duty from 0700 to 1800 during the week and then leave the rest of the time in the capable hands of the men. I'm sure that it's not a coincidence that the women outnumber the men, and these ladies work very hard for the privilege of being on the ambulance. Out of a 68 total membership there are 13 women with advanced first aid; 11 nurses; 11 Emt I; and even 2 Emt II's!

The women in this corps don't try to compete with the men, just co-exist with them. This is not to suggest that two 110 lb. females have an easier time trying to get a 250 lb. man suffering a cardiac arrest down two flights of stairs than two husky men would. Of course not! But, the women do get the job done. It's just done in our own way, that's all . . . and since necessity is the mother of invention, well, we invent a lot!

Women in the corps can work very well under stress, or rather distress. As most people will testify, working on an ambulance requires going from a state of normal activity to a state of intense alertness, tempered with a quick, calculating mind. In our corps we go to a very intense period of stress as we are still working under an archaic dispatch system, using telephone communication. On top of that we are still based in our own homes with the ambulance sitting in the crew chief's driveway. This situation will stay this way until our base is built and creates a good bit of stress even before going out on a call. Several leading contemporary psychologists, along with a few at the University of Pittsburgh, believe that women can work as well or better under extended periods of stress than men. This makes them well-suited for the job.

The men's view on the subject of women in the organization is one of active acceptance. Most feel they're darn glad to have us. These men aren't exactly attuned to women's lib, but they realize that the women have the time to devote to the service. In a community where most of the men have a nine to five job, there just isn't anyone else around in the mornings.

Having a majority of women hasn't deterred community support of our rescue company in the least. During our fund drives the community as a whole, (by the looks of the contributions), is 100% behind us.

The only people that grumble are the husbands, when they occasionally come home to a cold meal after a hard day at work. Taking care of a house and pulling ambulance duty doesn't always work out too well. With hamburger helper, T.V. dinners and casseroles, the ladies seem to manage.

Vimy News

By Rachel Ringnette

There will be a meeting of all parents, who have a child ready for grade one, in the Vimy School Library, on June 7 at 10:35 a.m. For registration, please contact the Vimy School if you have a child ready for school in the fall.

The Vimy Sports Association would like to thank everyone who came out to the bingo on Sunday, in spite of the bad weather.

On Thursday my two daughters Rachelle and Flora Jean left for a four day trip to Marwayne. Part of the trip will take in a one day cattle drive. Good luck girls.

Will be seeing Ed and Sandra driving around in their red and grey Cougar. Many safe miles Ed and Sandra.

Sturgeon Heights students away to Toronto

Eighteen students of one of the Grade 7 classes at Sturgeon Heights School left by train on Friday for a visit to the City of Toronto and to Niagara Falls. They were accompanied by Mrs. Linda Bilec, a teacher and her husband Bob, a university student, and a mother of one of the students.

First item after arriving in Toronto was a tour of city hall Monday morning, followed by a tour of CN Tower after lunch. Then it was on to the Royal Ontario Museum for a general tour, a theatre presentation and free time for special interests. Tuesday they will be at the Science Centre most of the day and then to McLaughlin Planetarium. Wednesday is busy again with tours of Mackenzie House, Casa Loma and Fort York, with a visit to Dominion Centre that evening. Thursday will take them to What's New Studios, the marine museum and Ontario Place, and after the usual 6:30 a.m. wake-up they go to Black Creek Pioneer Village on Friday and have that evening free for activities planned by their chaperones.

It's off to Niagara Falls Saturday, leaving on the train at 8 o'clock and returning at 10 that evening. They will see the Toronto Zoo Sunday before getting packed up for the trip home, leaving Toronto at 10 p.m. and arriving back in Edmonton at 7 a.m. Wednesday, June 8.

The trip costs in the vicinity of $5,000 and the students raised most of the money through a car raffle, white elephant sale and bingo. Ticket for the Honda Civic car was drawn at a school concert May 25 and George Bauwens of Legal was the winner. The parents of the children paying for transportation costs.

It was an excited group of Grade 7 kids who boarded the train last Friday, when all the fund raising work paid off, and the itinerary indicates a fine learning experience.

In Touch with Parliament

From Peter Elzinga, M.P., Pembina

BERGER REPORT MADE PUBLIC

Ordinarily when a Pipeline is built, the National Energy Board listens to the various applicants to see if the project is necessary and feasible. This operation is now proceeding on applications to build a 3,500 mile pipeline to Canada's Arctic Coast along the Mackenzie River.

In addition to the usual economics of a pipeline, the Government asked Chief Justice Berger of B.C. to inquire into the broader aspects such as the Environment and Native Rights.

It is the last report that was tabled last week. It's message was a firm statement on behalf of both the Environment and the Rights of the People who had lived along its route.

In no way should there be a line from Prudhoe Bay in Alaska to the Mackenzie River Line built along the coastal areas of the Yukon. That is where the 200,000 Cariboo have their calves every spring. Berger was also opposed to building an alternative route farther south. That route was too close to the hunting grounds of several hundred loyal Canadian Indians at Old Crow. Also, it crossed the migration routes of the Cariboo.

boo heading south after calving.

This recommendation seemed to scuttle the application of the joint Canadian American Group to bring U.S.A. gas from Alaska to the 48 States to the South.

The competing Canadian Group got a shock when Berger suggested a 10-year delay down the Mackenzie until some engineering problems were solved and there was an agreement with the Inuit and Indians on land claims.

Berger did not oppose another alternative route along the Alaska Highway so the Government hastened to set up a quick inquiry on this route.

In all the uproar many people thought the Northern pipeline idea was dead for at least 10 years. This is not the case.

On Friday, May 13, the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives voted down an NDP motion to not build a pipeline for 10 years. Translated, this means that Parliament would likely approve construction if recommended by the N.E.B., if the engineering difficulties were overcome and if the Native rights issue was settled or on the way to being settled.

A decision will be forthcoming, I expect, by September.

Saddle up for

Frontier Daze gymkhana

By Marg Bentz
Frontier Daze 77 will feature an open gymkhana this year, hosted by the Legal Poncho Riders who do such a very good job at the Legal Fete au Village celebration. Rene Shank of the Poncho Riders has this year's event set to run Saturday, June 25 starting at 1 p.m. with entries accepted right up to show time. The horse show will boast four events (flags, poles, stakes and barrels) in four separate categories - (mens, ladies, intermediate and junior) plus many feature events. Grand prize for the top point rider will be a black saddle trimmed in silver, which was provided courtesy of Morinville Frontier Daze and Ernie Bouchard of the Western Corral, Wainwright. The saddle was originally intended to be given last year for similar purposes but the horse event had to be cancelled on account of rain. This year, in the event of that unlikely occurrence (rain) the gymkhana will be put over to Sunday the 26th.

Anyone interested in competing in this year's show should contact Dave Shelton of the Legal Poncho Riders by phoning 961-2223 (General Delivery Legal) for further information.

Morinville Library books

"Approach to College" by Warren Farnsworth. This art form is becoming more and more popular. No two artists produce the same results from the same materials. The pictures are made from all kinds of scraps, blotting paper, carbon paper, cardboard, chocolate wrappers, confetti anything, with startling and often beautiful results.

"Catch The Wind" by Dennis Landt. Windmills and wind power is making a tremendous comeback. This little book with its many diagrams and pictures is a timely addition to our collection.

"Brinco" by Phillip Smith. The story of Churchill Falls from its beginnings, through its many trials and tribulations. A lively and revealing history showing often conflicting attitudes between government and business. Premier Levesque was a very active figure in the decision making.

"Roman Adventure" by May Mackintosh. Romance and intrigue in the world of art dealers against the background of the splendour and decadence of "The Eternal City."

"Mr. and Mrs. Pig's Evening Out," by Mary Rayner. Children will love the delightful pictures of the 13 piglets and the babysitter, none other than a crafty wolf. The babysitter tries to cook one little pig in the oven but is frustrated by all its brothers and sisters.

Lastly a book presented by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Alberta Veterinary Medical Association to commemorate its 25th anniversary. "Veterinarians of the Northwest Territories and Alberta," is a history of the men of the Veterinary profession who pioneered in the N.W.T. and the Province of Alberta from 1860-1955. The book was compiled by Dr. B. I. Love, who for many years was the superintendent of Elk Island National Park. Also to his credit are the strict health regulations in all the national parks. The book was donated to our library by Mrs. Margaret Korompy, wife of Dr. Valere Korompy, veterinarian of Morinville and should be of interest to any aspiring veterinarians.

A large crowd responded with enthusiasm to the band concert held May 25 at Sturgeon Heights School, when the Austin O'Brien stage band and choir teamed up with the junior and senior bands at Sturgeon Heights to present "A Musical Extravaganza."

The Austin O'Brien senior band and choir performed independently and gave the younger band students at Sturgeon Heights a grand opportunity to see what more they can do if they continue with their band program, and for the finale number the local senior band joined with their visitors.

A lot of people got into the act for this outstanding concert. Greg Wellsandt, a junior high student from St. Brendans Junior High in Edmonton was the trumpet soloist for the number Gospel John, which brought the house down. Four Sturgeon Heights teachers performed the Gaslight Gaieties (featuring the Odd Quad) using everything from triangles to duck calls to diddery doo (an Australian instrument) and aided by the choreography of Colleen Iseke. And of course Gerry Michielin, band instructor at Sturgeon and her husband Rick instructor at Austin O'Brien along with the over ninety band students had lots of planning and rehearsing to get done in order to come up with such a fine program by wind instrument bands. The Austin O'Brien group included a folk group on brass and woodwinds as well.

The grand turnout and the appreciative response from the audience made the evening and the work behind it more than worthwhile. The two and one-half hour program was delightfully balanced with a fine variety of numbers to appeal to varying tastes.

Capital expenditures swell budget

Morinville this week slapped down a big $740,000 budget for 1977, way up on last year's budget of $493,000.

But this year's mill rate is down by 11.48 from $6.48 in 1976 to 45 this year.

Town secretary-treasurer Paul Brochu says the main reason for the budget increase is that Morinville is recovering deficits from previous years.

There has also been a lot of capital expenditure, he says and the town has also bought a $13,000 truck, as well as a $3,600 copying machine.

Wages for municipal employees have also gone up, as well as spending on recreation Mr. Brochu says.

Wind-up party held for Pedal Pushers

For the first time in three years, Morinville has had a pedal pushers club. The program was sponsored by the newly formed Morinville Kinsmen Club, who reported that response was very good this year, with between 75 and 80 children taking part.
Last Sunday, the pedal pushers held their wind-up party, complete with scrumptious hot dogs and pop. Certificates were handed out, and trophies were presented to the most improved boy and girl in each age group. Scott McPherson and Linda Houle won the trophy for the most improved bikers for ages six to seven. In the seven and eight year old class, trophies went to Donald Lavoie and Wendy Bijou. Trophies for the nine to 12 class went to Peter Houle and Lee Ann Kremer. Little Pat Hogue and Catherine Saunter took the trophies in the kindergarten level. All trophies were donated by the Morinville Signal Kickers CB Club and the Morinville RCMP detachment.

Erucic acid test for rapeseed

An uncomplicated and inexpensive method for determining the acid content of rapeseed has been developed by a plant physiologist at Agriculture Canada's Saskatoon Research Station.

The test requires no special skills and can be done easily at country elevators. It involves measuring the solubility of the oil in an organic solvent.

Gibbons Senior Citizens enjoy visit to Coronado

On May 26 instead of our usual meeting, the Last Round-up members travelled to Coronado, on the invitation of the U.C.W. After some visiting, we were entertained by Mrs. Trott. She showed slides of South Africa. As usual, her pictures were really enjoyable - they are so clear and the colors so real. To make it more interesting Mrs. Trott's commentary brings the slides to life. She has a good speaking voice and is easily understood. A sincere thank you from us all Mrs. Trott.

While the U.C.W. ladies were preparing lunch, we had a short business meeting. Roll call was answered by 32 members. We were glad so many of our members were able to attend.

Emily brought up the matter of the tea, which we have been requested by the Ag. Board to serve June 11 and 12 (Ag Fair Days). There was a good deal of discussion on the matter. The tea hours are 11 a.m. to 5 or 5:30 p.m. and the "Senior Citizens Tea Garden" will be located at the north end of the arena. There will be a charge. Each family is being asked to bring two articles of baking - tarts, squares or muffins. Sandwiches will also be served. The lunch committee of Cathie Shaw, Aureole Lamoureux, Lillian Austin and George Knight are requested to help with the arrangements.

Sheila read a letter from Rein Selles, executive director of A.C.A. It was in reply to a letter which she had been instructed to write to him concerning transportation for senior citizens in rural areas. Lizzie Sprague adjourned the meeting.

We then re-joined the Coronado ladies in the dining area on the lower floor. They served a delicious lunch. As this was our "birthday" meeting, we took along our cake. It was a beautiful big heart-shaped cake sent by Della Gibbons (Gibbons Sunday School Circle). Sheila read the names of the May birthdays - Ethel Neilson, Emily Oliver, Yvonne Pederesen, George Petherbridge and Jean Toane. Sang "happy birthday" and "The More we Get Together." Emily had the honor of cutting and serving the cake. There was lots to go around to both our hostesses as well as our own members.

Emily thanked the Coronado ladies for such a pleasant afternoon and the beautiful lunch. It made a nice change from all who attended.

To the Coronado U.C.W. - on behalf of the Gibbons Senior Citizens. Our very sincere thanks for inviting us to join you on our meeting day of May 26. We who attended thoroughly enjoyed the fellowship and the opportunity to visit with you. Thanks too, for the delicious lunch. Thank you also to Mrs. Trott for entertaining us with her slides. It was a very pleasant afternoon and we all thoroughly enjoyed it. Again, many thanks.

A visit to a trapper's cabin

By Margaret J. Atkinson

It was a beautiful warm spring day in The Canadian Foothills. As I walked along the swift flowing creek banks where the water gurgled and splashed I had been fishing, but the fish were lazy that bright afternoon. I could see the trout lazing by logs which had fallen into the deeper parts, along the mossy banks.

Suddenly through a clearing in the deep forest, I saw smoke. As I walked the direction from which it came, I discovered a road, a trail really. There before me on a high level of ground, stood a tiny log cabin. It's tin stove pipe was emitting enough smoke to fill the clearing as a fog would. Near the cabin was a well, complete with a pulley, over which, a rope was strung with one end tied to a wooden bucket.

My surprise at finding this cabin in the silent dense forest was mild compared to the surprised look on the face of the man who answered to my knock on the strong, timbered door.

He could hardly believe his eyes he told me later. It was not common to see a woman, fishing gear in hand, all alone, away out there.

There were lots of bears, as well as other wild animals out there.

As I put my pack and fishing gear into a corner, I was invited to have a cup of the strong, black coffee, he had sitting on the back of the little black, coal and wood stove.

As we sat beside the home-made table, drinking coffee, the man, packed tobacco into a pipe, puffed at it until it was lit, then began to tell me of a life so fascinating. I was "spell-bound."

At the age of seven, he was left all alone, beside a bed where his mother lay, unhearing and unable to comfort the small, broken hearted boy. The angels had taken her as he described it. He then left the tiny shack, which had been his home on the prairies. He caught a freight train and started out into the big world. As he drew on his pipe, he talked of the hobo jungles and the kindness of one elderly hobo, who taught him to always be honorable, and honest.

I asked about the typewriter, which sat on a small home-made desk, by one of the small cabin windows. I noticed several sheets of paper, beside it, all neatly typed, and a sheet still in the typewriter partially typed.

The man, had taught himself to type. "I'm a trapper" he explained. "I never see anyone, except the forest ranger, who brings in my supplies."

No wonder he was so surprised at my visit, it was "totally" unexpected.

His filing cabinet was all alphabetically arranged, and totally made of graham wafer biscuit boxes, with small tabs, glued onto one end of each box, as a pull-handle. It was then set into a frame type structure, made from thin, willow branches.

With his willing permission, I got busy and baked some good things for him. I then scrubbed out his little log cabin with its heavily timbered door and rough wood floors.

The day was drawing to a close, much too rapidly for my liking. I was truly happy visiting there. Such a fine person he was and so open hearted.

With warm handshakes, I left the tiny cabin in the deep forest, with the promise to return.

Returning to walk the many miles into that area, the following year, I came again to that clearing, in the deep forest. The log cabin was no longer there. Only the well remained. The summer wind thumped the wooden bucket against the well.

I sat a while near the rubble of where the neat tiny cabin had been. As I trudged along the shore alongside the creek, my heart was heavy. As the water of the creek chuckled along, I felt awe at the great, infinite force, which had led me there, to that cabin that first time.

This year's Olds College Progressive Farming Days will emphasize the use of farm equipment in today's rapidly expanding agricultural industry. Those attending will be able to test the equipment on display and in the field.

The show which goes June 28, 29 and 30 will also feature a cross-section of agricultural chemicals demonstrated and discussed by experts.

The variety of subjects in the farm and home display section promise something for every member of the family. Subjects range from safety tips to cooking hints.

The Central Alberta Plowing Match Championship and a local tractor pull event will highlight the show.
